NO GONDOLA IN SIGHT. Unlike Venice, Italy, where gondolas are a "dime a dozen," there was no water taxi in sight when the swollen East End Run overflowed down Central Ave. and into Pennsylvania Ave. to create this flood scene after Tuesday's heavy storm. Cars could get through the hub-deep water but pedestrians had to wait for the flood to abate. In the other view, the raging water detoured back of Chaffin Ave., reaching the yards and porches of several homes. Spectators watch the boiling muddy water roar by.

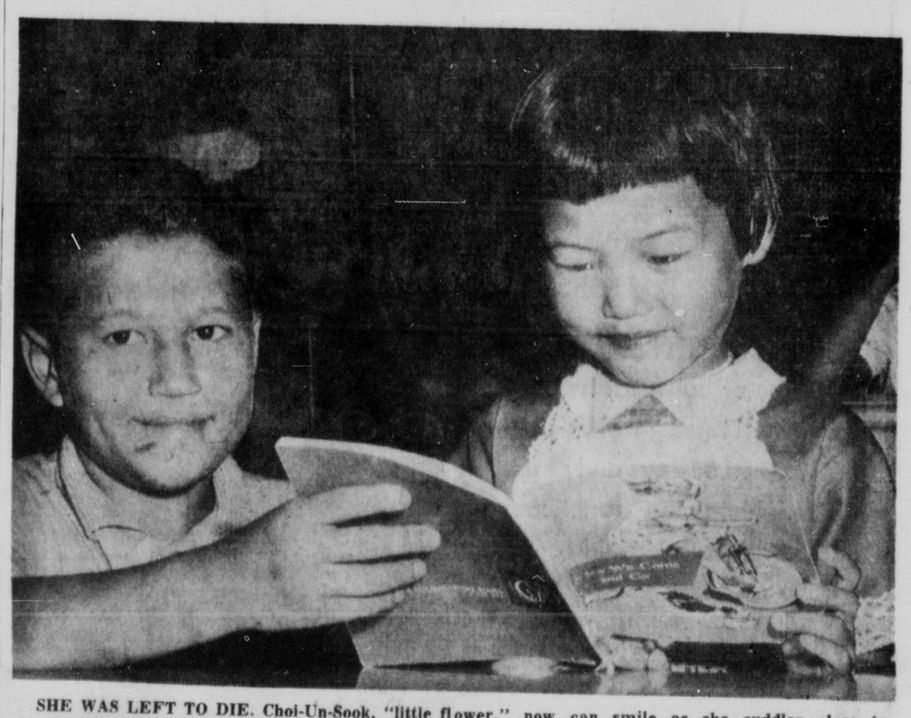
Korean Child Finds Haven



SHE WAS LEFT TO DIE. Choi-Un-Sook, "little flower," now can smile as she cuddles close to Kwong-Kwon-Tai at her first day of classes in Beaver School following her adoption by a Beaver County family. Choi, 7, has been named Florence (Kathy) Steele and her fellow Korean is 10 and has the American name of Garen Lee Steele. They found haven in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Steele of Dawson Ridge Rd., Beaver.

BY EARL RANKIN

A 7-year-old Korean girl, once left on a city dump to die, started to school Tuesday in Beaver County as the adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Steele of Dawson Ridge Rd., Beaver.

They also have a Korean boy, 10, three other adopted children and two children of their own.

Florence (Kathy) Plummer Steele, whose Korean name is Choi-Un-Sook and means "a little flower," arrived in the United States' Aug. 19.

She was named in memory of Miss Florence Plummer Phillips, a cousin of H. Burt Plummer of Beaver Falls, who spent 40 years in Korea as a missionary. The missionary's mother was Mrs. Matilda Potter, who resided on a farm nead Midland.

STEELE'S WIFE, Kathryn, has wanted a little Korean girl since she saw one in costume when she went to the Pittsburgh Airport to get Garen Lee Steele (Kwong-Kwon-Tai), who came here Oct. 23, 1958.

The Steeles did not have the necessary $725 to bring the little girl here and they had to apply before the Immigration Law's expiration July 31 of this year.

A retired Beaver Falls missionary heard of the Steeles' love for children and their plight. She con-

Lightning Sets $5,000 Blaze In Restaurant

Bolt Hits Neon Sign Then Fires Attic Of Route 7 Truck Stop

Lightning was blamed for a fire which caused an estimated $5,000 loss early Tuesday night to a restaurant and truck stop on Route 7, about a quarter of a mile north of the intersection with Route 30.

Asst. Chief Wilmer Bryson of the Glenmoor department said the damage was confined to one section of the attic in the restaurant building owned and operated by Mrs. Helen R. Kennedy.

The assistant chief said most of the damage was in the attic with smoke and water damage on the second floor. There was no damage to the restaurant proper, he said.

The bolt hit a neon sign, causing it to short. The fire burned into the eaves and through the rafters into the roof, but didn't break out of the roof, Bryson said.

The alarm was received at 5:45 p. m. during the severe thunderstorm with one tanker and the Civil Defense truck responding.

Crucible To Lay Off 70 For Mill Improvement

Some 70 employes will be affected when the hot strip mill at the Midland Works is shut down today to permit installation of a new facility, the Crucible Steel Co. said.

The company said the mill will be shut down for some three months while a new mill, costing in excess of $27 million when it is completed, is installed.

Courthouse To Close

LISBON — The Courthouse will be closed all day Saturday and Monday for the Labor Day weekend. Offices will suspend business at 4 p. m. Friday and reopen Tuesday at 8 a. m. to give employes a three - day holiday.

'Worst In History'

Heavy Rainstorm 'Floods' East End

The East End Run overflowed its banks for its entire length at the height of a torrential rainstorm Tuesday night, making miniature rivers of streets and invading the cellars of homes and business places in what old-timers in the First Ward termed "the worst flood in history."

Damage centered in the Harker Ave.-Chaffin St. area near the old traction company car barn and on Virginia Ave., St. George St. and Ohio Ave. in lower East End. Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver said.

Street department crews worked most of the night, clearing muck and debris from streets and pumping out flooded cellars. Firemen also aided in the cellar-clearing work.

At the height of the storm, the water coursed down Virginia Ave. like a river, forcing its way across the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. right-of-way, which is built up about 3 feet above the level of the pavement. Then it continued along Virginia Ave., across intersecting St. George St. and Ohio Ave., and poured over the embankment toward the Ohio River.

Along the way, the water invaded the cellars of the Kerr Lumber Co., on Virginia Ave. near the railroad, and the Bob Tice Market at St. George St. and Virginia Ave.

Firemen used a pumper to clear the water from the lumber company cellar, where it stood 6 to 7 feet deep. As the cellar has been flooded repeatedly in earlier overflows of the run, the lumber company has made it a practice not to store anything of value there.

The firm said the invading water, which overflowed the curb, caused the ground to settle at one

2-Way Mishap Hurts Woman Riding In Auto

Block Retaining Wall Damaged In Another City Traffic Crash

A woman passenger was injured in a collision of 2 cars Tuesday at 5:40 p. m. at Pennsylvania Ave. at Park Way, police reported.

Mrs. Irene Schlang of Manor Ln., wife of Robert Schlang, was treated at City Hospital for possible shoulder and spine injuries after the mishap that involved a 1960 car driven by her father, Sanders Firestone of Manor Ln., and a 1955 sedan operated by Thomas Keith Goodlin, 153 Beechwood St., officers said.

Mrs. Schlang and her husband were passengers in the Firestone auto, police said. There was damage to the left front of the Goodlin car and the hood and front end of Firestone's car, officers reported.

A section of a concrete block retaining wall was damaged in a collision at 4:53 p.m. at Bradshaw Ave. and Avondale St. that involved three autos, police said.

The mishap damaged a taxi of the Veterans Cab Co. driven by Archie Clapsadle, 39, of Cook St., a 1960 auto operated by John B. Kass, 47, of 913 Vine St. and a parked car owned by Robert M. Patterson of Pittsburgh, police said.

Both Clapsadle and Kass were driving south on Bradshaw, the taxi trailing the private auto, officers said. Clapsadle said he was about 40 feet behind Kass when he noticed the driver ahead had applied his brakes.

Echo Due Tonight

Cloudy skies prevented a sighting of the Echo satellite Tuesday night but the big balloon is due to make another visible pass over the East Liverpool area tonight at 10:19, from the northwest into the east, losing itself in the earth' shadow about 10:30. It will be seen again at 12:20 a. m., from northwest to southeast.

Store Center Planned For East End Lot

A Youngstown developer is preparing to erect a 23 - unit shopping center in East End, probably in part of the Columbian Park tract.

The big center, to be known as East Liverpool Plaza, will be built by the Youngstown Industrial Development Corp., headed by Edward J. DeBartolo, president.

Plans for the project became public when a number of East Liverpool business concerns received letters from the Youngstown firm, seeking to interest them in renting space in the center.

"We are now in the initial stage of leasing space in East Liverpool Plaza and presently have commitments from a national chain supermarket, drugstore, junior department store and shoe store," the letter says.

However, a spokesman for the development corporation said it has "no further announcement at this time" about the plans. John G. Peterson of the corporation's real estate department sent out the letters to the local merchants.

In regard to the location it said simply: "This center will be located on Pennsylvania Ave. and will consist of 23 units, with provision for future expansion."

That virtually pinpoints the development in the Columbian Park area, the only stretch along Pennsylvania Ave. where there is sufficient space open for such a big project.

In recent months unconfirmed reports have arisen repeatedly that a shopping center project was being planned for the section of Columbian Park property owned by Mike Pusateri, on which an auto sales agency now operates. The owner has denied several times that such a deal was afoot, at least that sale of the property had been completed.

Lumumba Receives Jolt

U. N., Congo Get Cooperation Plea

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The conference of independent African states jolted Premier Patrice Lumumba today with a resolution calling for frank and loyal cooperation between the United Nations and the Congo.

Lumumba, who has described the United Nations as imperialist, harassed Secretary-Secretary Dag Hammarskjold, and even called for the withdrawal of the U. N. force, sat in silence as the resolution was read in the conference hall.

The conference, which brought together delegates of 13 African states, wound up as Lumumba's government built up troop strength in neighboring Kasai province, apparently for an invasion of rebellious Katanga.

Lumumba had won one of his main demands. The United Nations announced that the last Belgian combat troops have quit the Congo, leaving only a few hundred technical specialists to look after the big treaty bases at Kamina, in Katanga; and Kitona, on the Congo River.

The conference expressed regrets at the incidents which have troubled relations between the Congo and the U. N.

Luncheon And Area Tour Set For 30 New Teachers

A reception for 30 new teachers in the East Liverpool public and parochial schools and the Beaver Local system, highlighted by an auto tour of the area and a luncheon program, has been arranged for Tuesday by the public education committee of the Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with the East Liverpool Teachers Association.

The reception will be held in conjunction with a general teachers' meeting Tuesday morning at Westgate School as the instructors prepare for the opening of the 1960-61 term the following day.

The Chamber members will serve coffee and punch from 9 to 9:30 a. m. — before the meeting gets under way. Similar refreshments and cookies will be served following the general meeting.

At the same time, a general meeting of Beaver Local teachers will be under way at the new school near Williamsport. A caravan of local autos will go to the Beaver Local meeting to pick up the new teachers there and bring them to Westgate for the start of the tour at 11.

To show the teachers highlights of the city and the immediate area, the tour will move from Westgate, across the Newell Bridge and then east on the Chester - Newell Rd.,

Storm Floods East End As Run Goes Out

point and damage the cellar wall. The firemen worked until about midnight to remove the water.

Damage was severe in the cellar of the Tice Market. Compressors furnishing cold to a meat display case and a vegetable case were put out of action when covered with water. There also was undetermined damage to the furnace, a hot water tank and a washing machine.

The water in the market cellar was 4½ or 5 feet deep, about a foot from the ceiling. Mr. and Mrs. Tice, who have operated the market 12 years, said it was the first time their cellar has been flooded. A refrigeration mechanic managed to get the compressor motors running again.

Street crews were continuing to work on the market cleanup today, shoveling out muck and hosing away dirt.

Mrs. Tice said residents of the area are forming a delegation to attend City Council's next meeting Tuesday night to demand action to prevent further flooding from the overflowing run.

Less rain fell in the late - afternoon storm than was recorded in the early - morning storm but it seemed more concentrated.

Dam 8 recorded 1.36 inches in the earlier storm and only 1.19 inches yesterday afternoon.

The principal storm occurred between 4:05 and 6:10 p. m., followed by intermittent showers during the night that raised the total precipitation to 1.29 inches by 7 a. m. today, the dam said.

In addition to the two business places, city crews pumped out three cellars on Virginia Ave. and one each on Manor Ln., Ohio Ave. and Cain St., the director said.

The flood had receded by midnight, but cleanup work went on. At the height of the storm, the River Rd. was closed at Ralston's Crossing — its lowest point — because the pavement was covered with about 4 feet of water. Street crews moved barricades into place to close the road, but about that time the water started to recede and the barricades were removed.

Directing the cleanup work, Copenhaver was on the job until after midnight and Mayor Bert H. Goodballet did not get to bed until after 2 this morning. The director said a deluge of telephone calls started just about the time he and the mayor arrived at their homes yesterday afternoon from their offices. Without taking time for supper, they went to the flood scene and remained there until the worst of the damage had been taken care of, he said.

As it poured over the end of Virginia Ave. at Ohio Ave. toward the river, the water also invaded the properties of two physicians, Dr. William J. Horger and Dr. J. Keith Rugh.

In the Chaffin St.-Harker Ave. area, the run overflowed back of the old car barn because it was blocked by silt and boulders washed in by the rushing water, residents told the director.

To help prevent the water from invading nearby homes, street department crews built a temporary "dike" of washed-out concrete blocks and earth, using a scraper to mound earth up near the blocks.

The water poured onto Pennsylvania Ave. via cross streets and then ran along the main thoroughfare, which slopes downgrade slightly toward Park Way and on down to Mulberry St.

"Pennsylvania Ave. was a regular river; it's the worst I've ever seen," the director said.

A veteran merchant told the director it was the deepest flood he ever had seen on Mulberry St. as the result of a storm or a run overflow.

Street department workers are clearing muck from streets such as Virginia Ave., 1st Ave. and Mulberry St., using fire hoses and shovels. The director estimated a week may be required for the cleanup.

City firemen said the storm, which virtually "flooded" portions of the city, resulted in another "flood" — in telephone calls.

Firemen said they were kept busy most of the night answering numerous complaints and using trucks to pump water out of various areas.

The department said they were called to the home of John Eddy, 422 W. 9th St., at 6:20 p. m. when residents thought they smelled smoke.

Firemen said the family was advised to summon an electrician to check the wiring, which apparently shorted out. No trace of a fire could be found, firemen said.

East End firemen were called at the same time to Elmtree St. and Virginia Ave. on the report of a broken gas main. However, employes of the Ohio Valley Gas Co. already had shut off the gas, firemen said.

The Silver Switch on the Wellsville - East Liverpool super - road was flooded, blocking traffic for a while.

Hillcrest, near Wellsville, also had heavy rains and some cellars were flooded. Owners of small lakes in the area feared dirt dams would wash away.

Wellsville had suffered from several storms in the past but yesterday's deluge passed over without harm.

In Chester, Cyril Govey, chairman of the streets committee, said sewers at Fairview Rd. and on 2nd St. were clogged by debris washed down during the storm.

Other city sewers were taxed to capacity and some water entered basements, according to reports.

The gravel section of Carolina Ave. Ext. near Pan Ave. was washed out, Govey said.

Midland was hit by a heavy rain Some residents had a little water in the cellars of their homes.

The storm quickly knocked 15 degrees from the afternoon's hot high of 87 but the mercury remained above 70 degrees through the night and was to bounce back up today to an expected high of 84 to 89.

But no more rain was in sight. The forecast is for fair tonight and Thursday and continued warm.

Tonight's low will be 64 to 69 degrees. Last night's low was 72 degrees.

North Beaver County Hit By Thunderstorm

BEAVER FALLS — A thunderstorm flooded streets and knocked out power and telephone service in parts of northern Beaver County Tuesday.

The storm, which lasted about 45 minutes, hit particularly hard at Beaver Falls and New Brighton. Flash flooding left as much as three feet of water in Beaver Falls streets, tied up traffic and flooded basements.

Fire Chief Edward Phillips of Beaver Falls directed pumping operations at flooded basements in the business section.

A number of autos were trapped for a time by high water, but there were no injuries.

Lightning blew out the fire alarm system in Beaver Falls.

At the Tri-State Co., a Beaver Falls restaurant supply firm, water in the basement resulted in damage of $10,000, according to owner Harry Braun.

Storm At Palestine Causes Power Failure

EAST PALESTINE — A severe thunderstorm which hit the area Tuesday evening caused a power failure for about 15 minutes in a large section of town.

A transformer in the extreme West End was hit by lightning and two main circuits were put out of order.

Several cellars and a few streets were flooded.

Probers Hint Of Corruption In Trucking

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators are working on a case which Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) says already has turned up indications of possible corruption in government regulations of some truck operators.

Congressional sources hinted the investigation, based on Interstate Commerce Commission activities, would penetrate the New York underworld and garment industry. It also was learned the Justice Department has investigated the same area.

Harris said that "no deliberate act of the commission itself" is involved in the possible irregularities which he said have been occurring for years.

Under way for many months, the inquiry was brought into the open Tuesday when the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee heard briefly from two subpoenaed officers of New York trucking firms.

Joseph Reznitsky, president of Gold Star Freight Lines, handed over several records demanded by the subcommittee. Jack Lieberman, secretary and treasurer of Interstate Dress Carriers, balked. He said that to produce subpoenaed documents might tend to incriminate him.

Rogers Woman Leaves For Iowa

Mrs. Zora Roley of Rogers left Tuesday morning for an extended visit with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Emmon Edsall and Mrs. Ralph Edsall, of Marshaltown, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Bell of Green Cove Springs, Fla., is visiting her brother, Roscoe Rogers, who is ill.

Miss Agnes Cope has returned to Lakewood to resume her duties of dean of girls in a high school there. Miss Cope and her mother, Mrs. Ruth Cope, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ray Morris of Columbiana.

Miss Penny Duncan, daughter of Mrs. Viola Duncan, is a patient at Salem City Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillett Shown and son, Ted, of Houston, Tex., were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith of Signal.

Sunday guests of Mrs. Frankie Bell were Mr. and Mrs. William Shoff of New Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baker of Butler, Mrs. Pearl McGinnis of Houston, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bell of Columbiana and Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Bell of Green Cove Springs, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCall and family of the New Waterford Rd. have moved into the Methodist Church parsonage.

When The Rains Pour Down

When the rains come as they did late Tuesday afternoon things are bound to happen. And happen they did!

Ask residents of the East End and other sections where the flow of water got out of control. When the volume was as great as that of yesterday, some damage was almost certain to occur regardless of efforts to avert it. The downpour, however, once more left a muddy reminder of the need for an improved municipal sewer system.

While the money is not available for a comprehensive program at present, there's no reason why every possible step shouldn't be undertaken until such a time as additional funds permit a broader effort.

The East End run — a major headache for years — remains the No. 1 villain for residents of that area when storms strike. Its cleaning, with a possible closing, is one of the 10 points recommended in any improvement program should the proposed income tax pass on Nov. 8. Such a project, however, would be for the future.

If nothing else now, the cleaning of sewers that lend themselves to cleaning and the deepening of drainage ditches that need deepening would help ease the matter. Every little bit would help.

No one is more aware of the problem than the mayor, the safety - service director and members of City Council. Their phones must have been ringing again since Tuesday afternoon.

Though they are hampered by lack of funds, the one hope is that what sewer work is possible doesn't get lost amid the countless other problems with which city officials are faced daily.

The rains will come again.

The Challenge Of San Jose

The United States has won an immediate victory in San Jose with the vote of the Organization of American States to condemn Communist inroads on the Western Hemisphere through Castro's Cuba.

Whether the victory will be permanent will be decided in the future, and it will depend upon how brilliantly the United States marshals its forces and maps its strategies. Nothing short of brilliance will suffice, because the enemy is at the moment a long step ahead.

An example of the kind of strategy needed was, in fact, displayed by the United States in connection with the OAS meeting in San Jose, Costa Rica.

FIRST TO COME UP on the agenda was a proposal to take action against the dictatorial dynasty of Rafael Trujillo in the Dominican Republic because of its direction of a plot to assassinate the democratic president of Venezuela.

The United States joined with its Latin neighbors in voting for economic and diplomatic sanctions against the Trujillo regime and before the week was out implemented its vote through State Department and Senate action.

The second item of business at San Jose was the U.S. charge against Cuba. Although its evidence of Kremlin and Peiping influence on Fidel Castro's henchmen was specific, the United States settled for a direct condemnation only of international communism with an implied slap at Castro.

THE IMPORTANCE of this in the Latin mind cannot be underestimated. The Trujillo dynasty has been a threat to democratic forces south of the U.S. border for 30 years. To many a Latin American, it is a far more insidious evil in the Western Hemisphere than any Communist dictatorship that has yet appeared on the horizon.

At the same time, because of the announced economic aims of his revolution, Castro is a hero to many rank-and-file Latins, which is the thing that worried the foreign ministers gathered in San Jose. Too strong a stand against him at this time might well mean the loss of their jobs and the collapse of whatever efforts they have been making to bring real democracy to their respective countries.

The tacit approval for many years by the United States of the Trujillo regime and the sudden excitement of the United States over the Castro threat mean to millions of Latin Americans only that the United States is on the side of dictatorship that helps the entrenched dynasty and oppose to the dictatorship that claims to serve the lowly.

IT IS THIS image of the United States that has made it so easy for a demagogue like Fidel Castro to capture the imagination of the lowly Latin and convince him that the real source of his troubles is the government in Washington.

It is this image of the United States that the government in Washington must wipe out. It must be replaced with a convincing picture of the United States as the defender and promoter of democracy everywhere and the eternal enemy of dictatorship in any form.

Fidel Castro would be unknown today if the United States had had the foresight to take a strong stand against the dictatorial rule of Fulgencio Batista in Cuba when it had considerably more influence in Havana than it now has.

THE OTHER GOVERNMENTS of the Organization of American States have backed up the United States' answer to Nikita Khrushchev that the Monroe Doctrine today represents hemispheric, not nationalistic policy.

In return, the United States must back up the governments of Latin nations in their claim that there is a solution to Latin problems other than dictatorship of either right or left.

And that can be done only by establishing contact with the rank-and-file Latin Americans themselves. It will not be easy, because Fidel Castro and his ilk got there first.

But it is mandatory if the United States is to avoid the isolation that would make it an unwanted stranger in its own backyard.

Fitting Epilogue

The wife and parents of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers had scarcely left Russian soil when a Soviet publication appeared with an article debasing their motives for going to Moscow for his trial.

This came as a rude shock to the family and to Americans whose hearts went with them, but it fits the Kremlin pattern perfectly.

The trial staged by the Communist masters was designed from beginning to end to show Francis Powers as a hapless tool of the "warmongers" in the United States who was prevailed upon to hamper international peace in return for $2,500 a month.

What more fitting epilogue to this show than a propaganda piece claiming that the pilot's family was not really interested in his welfare, but only in getting material to sell to American magazines?

This line also serves another purpose. It gets the Kremlin bosses off the hook after their refusal even to listen to the appeals for leniency that the members of the Powers family sought to make in person.

This way Khrushchev & Co. does not appear to the Russian people to be unmindful of human kindness. It just seems to be fighting the good fight against the evil American dollar.

The Once Over

Business executives are allowed to charge off wives in income tax returns if the corporation says the Missus is a help on trips in promoting and getting business.

Taking the little woman along on trips is becoming more and more of a custom, especially if she can type, mix well and aid in contracts.

There are homes where the wife isn't on the premises much, if the old man is a traveler. If she left a note on the door it would not read, "Back soon. Gone to shopping center," but, "Leave no milk. Back in autumn if we make good jet connections."

Taxmen make a check for proof wives are really valuable asset in business, which brings to mind the fact that most big corporations now investigate the Missus in forming opinion of husband's value in higher posts.

Belief is that no man is a good bet in responsible job if his wife is a handicap. How about these gradings?

Class A: Has beauty and charm. Can hold own in any company. Knows when to stop talking. Is obviously devoted to husband and family. May have chapped hands from doing dishes but is proud of them. Has obvious good head in any economic situation. One martini limit.

Class B: No glamor gal and charm isn't striking but possesses so much horse sense, balance and general intelligence that she could attend a business conference in homegarden overalls with a bunch of asparagus in one hand and broom in the other without losing face. Clearly provides husband with incentive and always keeps eyes on goal posts.

Class C: Lacks some of above qualities but can type, keep books and abstain from masquerade hats and bizarre costuming.

Class D: Easy on the eyes but makes married life a Battle of the Bulge. Attitude toward husband is that of a dramatic critic toward a bad play. Is away out in centerfield in serious conversations.

Where Comment Calls For The Facts

By Raymond Moley

When an editor or commentator has been widely read for a period of nearly half a century, has advised presidents and statesmen, has been read with something approaching reverence by countless thousands, and has passed through three notable eras in American political life, he becomes a substantial national figure.

Such a luminous figure is Mr. Walter Lippmann, the constant companion of his countrymen at their breakfast tables. He was reputed to have assisted Woodrow Wilson in writing the 14 Points.

He collaborated with Col. House in preparing for the peace conference after the Armistice in 1918; and after peace was concluded, disagreed with the Versailles Treaty in a notable document.

HE REACHED a high pinnacle in journalism as editor of the New York World prior to its demise.

While Henry Stimson was secretary of state, there was deposited in his office a ready-reference file of the Lippmann columns, no doubt to guide the secretary in his conduct of foreign affairs.

When a man reaches such eminence, he passes beyond the ranks of those of us who are just daily or weekly writers for the press. But in that transformation he loses the immunity generally accorded within that fraternity.

In short, he can be subjected to the criticism of commentators, just as are statesmen such as the President, the candidates for his office, Dag Hammarskjold, Nehru, and Lumumba.

Such a statesman as Lippmann must change the face of his ideas just as the face of the nation changes.

For that reason, it would be somewhat frivolous to note changes in his opinions over the long years, although some of his critics have so dissected Mr. Lippmann's thinking.

I do not propose to do that. Any man is entitled to change his opinions as the facts behind them change.

The point I want to make is that Mr. Lippmann in his later years has developed quite irrational antipathies. Notable are his mental contortions designed to discredit Messrs. Eisenhower and Nixon and the administration of which they have been a part.

THE MOST recent is an article which derives from the debacle which has resulted from the Johnson-Kennedy-Rayburn effort to hold an August session of Congress as a part of their political campaign.

Lippmann views the failure of the Johnson-Kennedy leadership to get an overwhelmingly Democratic Congress to enact its program as an indictation that Kennedy rather than Nixon would get on better with Congress.

Most people have noted that if Sen. Kennedy cannot manage his own party on the eve of an election, he might have a great deal more trouble managing things if he were elected.

Last summer Mr. Lippmann asserted that Nixon's visit to Poland would be a great mistake. The fact was that when the Kremlin told Nixon he could not return through Siberia to the United States, Nixon clearly out-maneuvered the Kremlin by turning westward to Poland, where he had a hero's reception.

More important is the Lippmann acceptance, hook, line, and sinker, of the Galbraith-Kennedy thesis that the Eisenhower administration has neglected "the public sector of the economy" and has permitted a withering away of public services and human vehement. It is argued not by specific figures but by bold assertions of generalities.

After all, when a man becomes an oracle he need not bother about being a statistician.

THE FACTS ARE that while the population in the Eisenhower years 1953-1961 has increased 13 per cent, and the Gross National Product 47 per cent, the expenditures on "the public sector" have increased 135 per cent.

Expenditures on private consumption in that time have increased one half, while federal spending for civilian purposes has gone up almost 2½ times in eight years.

Mr. Lippmann would do better to do a bit of his own research rather than accepting uncritically what is being said by economists in politics and by politicians talking economics.

The Perfect Month

By Truman Twill

There is this annual thing that goes on when it comes to September. Like I mean, man, I do a typographical gulper.

I cry all over the newsprint, not because of sadness or remorse, but because that's what September has meant since I was this high—a month for bathos. Like the girl in "September Morn"—lovely is the word for September.

Others get lumps in the throat about June. Or December. Some go for May, and some like October. There are 12 months to choose from and something to be said for each of them, although nothing much for February.

But every sampling reveals the same thing about September. Months come and go, but the one that most people wish would stay forever is September.

Ask them how they feel about sleet in November, snow in December, January, February and March, floods in April, unsettled weather in May, unseasonably low temperatures in June, thunderstorms in July, excessive humidity in August and killing frosts and leaf-racking in October and most of them will sigh, "Ah, September. . ."

Ah, September. . .

Now if ever we'll have perfect days, when the noonday sun will be blazing hot, when the morning sun will be a shimmering disc in a watery sky, when sunset will be a many-shadowed splendor and nights will be black velvet and sparkling silver.

We will have the mystery of mist-shrouded horizons, the marvel of dew so heavy it runs off like rain and the miracle of air so tonic it braces while it's breathed.

There will be the wondrous dark greens of mature leaves before they finish their allotted span, the lighter green of the grass blanket being readied for its winter role of cover and comfort for the chilled earth.

There will be that most encouraging sight—the scrubbed faces of children ready for school, the miraculous ressembly of the intricate machinery of education, the brave beginning of another academic year.

But most poignant will be the Act III denouement of summer. In September, we come to the end of the play, the moment when everything is revealed before the curtain falls. The hero kisses the heroine and everybody takes a bow.

We say goodbye to our favorite actors and take a last look at the stage on which they—and we—have been performing.

There is a last time for all the joys of summertime delight—a last swim, a last picnic, a last outing, a last rose, a last sunning.

Comes now the end of growing, gardening and grubbing.

Time to close the summer cottages, drain the swimming pools, put away tennis racquets, croquet sets and golf clubs.

Time for one last round of enjoyment before The End. Act III is always the best part of the show, the one missing in television but not in summer.

Summer began away back there, and this is what came of it all—another September—the perfect month—the one everybody mentions as the one they'd choose to spend eternity with, if they had a choice.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The two-room school at Shippingport opened with an enrollment of 55.

The State Department of Education promised St. Clair Township $12,500 for school purposes provided the township would provide an additional $60,000.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The bark of a dog saved the lives of a family of eight on Washington St. in their gas-filled home.

Milk dealers of the East Liverpool area met with farmer producers and heads of farmer organizations to consider a price increase.

Since the Republican Party was organized under that name, President Eisenhower and President Grant have been the only two members to serve two full terms in the White House.

Public Notice

There are times when what looks like a newspaper may not qualify as such for legal purposes.

In many places there are what are known as "shoppers" or "throwaways." They contain more or less news, they serve a purpose, but their primary purpose is advertising.

Such publications are useful and many of them have been in existence for years. Some of them make a fine appearance. But it is significant that they cannot qualify for second-class entry under the postal laws. This is because they do not come within the definition of a bona fide newspaper under the regulations.

Then again there are special interest newspapers which, within their limits, also serve useful purposes. These may be fraternal or religious in nature or may have to do with a specific trade, business, industry or profession.

But in the very great majority of cases the thousands of state laws governing public notices or legal advertising specify the use of bona fide newspapers of paid general circulation in the community for such purposes. This is because such newspapers usually give maximum coverage, circulate throughout the community, their main purpose is to publish editorial and news matters, and their paid circulations are undeniable proof of their merit, their influence and their being wanted in the community.

Climax In The South

By David Lawrence

Electoral Votes Swing Away From Democrats

David Lawrence

It was easy enough to attempt to explain away the defection of Texas and four other southern states in the 1928 election as based on the so-called "religious issue" but when in 1952 and 1956 several states in the South again voted for the Republican presidential tickets, there was developed another alibi —the personal popularity of Dwight Eisenhower.

But what has been generally overlooked is that Mr. Eisenhower in his campaign speeches repeatedly touched on a sore spot in southern politics — the tendency of the Democratic party to veer away from states' rights. Mr. Nixon will be saying the same thing in his tour of the South.

Mr. Eisenhower's speeches in 1952 gave the distinct impression that he sided with the South on states' rights.

It is true that he hasn't since gone along with the south's viewpoint on "segregation," because he has felt that his sworn duty is to enforce the Constitution as the Supreme Court of the United States, rightly or wrongly, has construed it. But there is no doubt that in his heart Mr. Eisenhower feels — as Vice President Nixon does — that basically the issues are moral and social and that new laws or court orders will not alone bring a change of thinking or custom.

BUT THE SOUTH may contribute electoral votes to the Republican ticket this year for reasons wholly disconnected from the segregation - integration controversy.

Actually on this issue the two party platforms do not differ materially. What is significant is that the South in large part has been slowly coming to the conclusion that the main reason for remaining Democratic in the last 100 years is disappearing.

The Democratic party, which long was faithful to the states' rights doctrines of Thomas Jefferson, has been abandoning them in favor of the Madison and Hamilton doctrines of centralization of power in the federal government.

The Republican party in recent years, on the other hand, has taken a position in favor of states' rights more in line with southern thinking.

Indeed, again and again northern Republicans have voted in Congress along with southern Democrats in a coalition that seeks to preserve the rights of the states.

This means more from an economic and political standpoint to the southerners than does the so-called "civil rights" issue, important though it still is in local politics.

The practical obstacle against the rise of the Republican party in the South is that for generations the Democratic state and city organizations have been supreme.

Selection of a candidate in the primaries of the Democratic party has been equivalent to election because of the absence of organized Republican opposition.

In most instances in southern states no candidates for Congress or for state and local officers are nominated by the Republican party.

THIS MEANS that campaign funds flow from the National Democratic party to the local Democratic candidates.

That's why so many of the southern senators and representatives already have endorsed the Kennedy - Johnson ticket though they know this means that many voters in their own states will disregard perfunctory endorsements and vote Republican anyhow in the presidential election.

There has been talk of third party tickets for president or at least "independent electors", but all these plans are likely to be of little avail for practical reasons.

The Republican candidates for president and vice president are on the ballot and are well known. Many southerners, feeling that this year both party platforms and the utterances of the candidates are about the same on the "civil rights" issue, will turn to other issues.

Perhaps one of the most important of all is the right-to-work issue. Sen. Byrd, (D-Va), for instance, said in a speech before the American Bar Association this week:

"I regard the right to work as I do the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. States have the right, the responsibility, and the duty to protect this fundamental freedom. This is my position and I shall fight for it. . . .

"We have learned that the more government is centralized in federal bureaucracy at Washington, the more it is susceptible to the arrogant influence of labor leaders."

THE PLEDGES in the Democratic party platform to get rid of right-to-work laws and the endorsement of Sen. Kennedy, Democratic nominee, by the AFL-CIO which is fighting for the repeal of those laws may cost him more electoral votes in the South than he can gain on this issue in the West and North as an offset.

In other words, economic issues — conservatism versus radicalism, and decentralization versus centralization — are tending more and more to swing the electoral votes of the South away from their traditional support of the Democratic party in past national elections.

Poor Performance

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

It was a big bust.

This dying summer session of Congress used up the taxpayers' money accomplishing practically nothing and strangled itself in politics, polemics, partisanship and poor performance.

Neither Democrats nor Republicans can claim a victory from what happened, for very little was done except to leave the voters more confused than ever on what result to expect from the November election.

For weeks voters' ears have been pounded with the leadership theme by the two presidential candidates—Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy—each claiming he's the one to do the leading.

Each had a chance to do his stuff in this congressional session, Kennedy more than Nixon because Nixon, by the nature of the vice presidency, has to stay pretty much on the sidelines.

Both suffered dismal defeats. Each backed his own kind of medical care program. The Senate approved a program much less than either wanted.

If this session of Congress showed anything it showed the frustration Nixon and Kennedy face in dealing with Congress next year, no matter which one wins in November.

The Senate Democrats, outnumbering the Republicans 66-34, had enough votes to ram through anything they wished—if they stuck together, but they didn't.

Nineteen Southern Democrats deserted the rest of their party to join the Republicans in killing Kennedy's medical care bill.

Thus was revealed once again the myth of regarding the Democratic party as a single party with a unified will and viewpoint.

In the November elections, only one-third of the 100 Senate seats are at stake and the Democrats outnumber the Republicans 66-34. The Democrats don't figure to lose their majority in November, no matter who wins the presidency.

In the House all 437 seats are at stake. But there the Democrats outnumber the Republicans 280 to 152, with five vacancies.

So, short of a Republican landslide, which no one is predicting, the Democrats don't expect to lose control in the House, either.

If Nixon wins the presidency he faces the prospect of dealing with a Democratic-run Congress, which can be a frustrating experience, as Kennedy ought to be able to tell him.

Kennedy, because he needs all the votes he can get and can't afford to split the party, won't be able in this election campaign to blame the Southern Democrats for what they did to him in this session of Congress.

Nixon's two main weapons, if he has to deal with a Democratic congress, will be the power to veto what he doesn't like and the hope of getting enough Democrats to trot along with enough Republicans to give him what he wants.

But what he'll get out of such an arrangement will pretty surely be conservative legislation since the conservatives of both parties in Congress are the dominating force and are likely to remain so.

If Kennedy wins he will always have hanging over him the threat of a coalition of conservative Democrats and conservative Republicans.

The X-ray was so named because its discoverer, the German psysicist, Wilhelm Roentgen, did not understand its nature. Since the letter "X," in mathematics, stands for an unknown quantity, he called his new discovery "the X-ray."

When The Rains Pour Down

When the rains come as they did late Tuesday afternoon things are bound to happen. And happen they did!

Ask residents of the East End and other sections where the flow of water got out of control. When the volume was as great as that of yesterday, some damage was almost certain to occur regardless of efforts to avert it. The downpour, however, once more left a muddy reminder of the need for an improved municipal sewer system.

While the money is not available for a comprehensive program at present, there's no reason why every possible step shouldn't be undertaken until such a time as additional funds permit a broader effort.

The East End run — a major headache for years — remains the No. 1 villain for residents of that area when storms strike. Its cleaning, with a possible closing, is one of the 10 points recommended in any improvement program should the proposed income tax pass on Nov. 8. Such a project, however, would be for the future.

If nothing else now, the cleaning of sewers that lend themselves to cleaning and the deepening of drainage ditches that need deepening would help ease the matter. Every little bit would help.

No one is more aware of the problem than the mayor, the safety - service director and members of City Council. Their phones must have been ringing again since Tuesday afternoon.

Though they are hampered by lack of funds, the one hope is that what sewer work is possible doesn't get lost amid the countless other problems with which city officials are faced daily.

The rains will come again.

The Challenge Of San Jose

The United States has won an immediate victory in San Jose with the vote of the Organization of American States to condemn Communist inroads on the Western Hemisphere through Castro's Cuba.

Whether the victory will be permanent will be decided in the future, and it will depend upon how brilliantly the United States marshals its forces and maps its strategies. Nothing short of brilliance will suffice, because the enemy is at the moment a long step ahead.

An example of the kind of strategy needed was, in fact, displayed by the United States in connection with the OAS meeting in San Jose, Costa Rica.

FIRST TO COME UP on the agenda was a proposal to take action against the dictatorial dynasty of Rafael Trujillo in the Dominican Republic because of its direction of a plot to assassinate the democratic president of Venezuela.

The United States joined with its Latin neighbors in voting for economic and diplomatic sanctions against the Trujillo regime and before the week was out implemented its vote through State Department and Senate action.

The second item of business at San Jose was the U.S. charge against Cuba. Although its evidence of Kremlin and Peiping influence on Fidel Castro's henchmen was specific, the United States settled for a direct condemnation only of international communism with an implied slap at Castro.

THE IMPORTANCE of this in the Latin mind cannot be underestimated. The Trujillo dynasty has been a threat to democratic forces south of the U.S. border for 30 years. To many a Latin American, it is a far more insidious evil in the Western Hemisphere than any Communist dictatorship that has yet appeared on the horizon.

At the same time, because of the announced economic aims of his revolution, Castro is a hero to many rank-and-file Latins, which is the thing that worried the foreign ministers gathered in San Jose. Too strong a stand against him at this time might well mean the loss of their jobs and the collapse of whatever efforts they have been making to bring real democracy to their respective countries.

The tacit approval for many years by the United States of the Trujillo regime and the sudden excitement of the United States over the Castro threat mean to millions of Latin Americans only that the United States is on the side of dictatorship that helps the entrenched dynasty and oppose to the dictatorship that claims to serve the lowly.

IT IS THIS image of the United States that has made it so easy for a demagogue like Fidel Castro to capture the imagination of the lowly Latin and convince him that the real source of his troubles is the government in Washington.

It is this image of the United States that the government in Washington must wipe out. It must be replaced with a convincing picture of the United States as the defender and promoter of democracy everywhere and the eternal enemy of dictatorship in any form.

Fidel Castro would be unknown today if the United States had had the foresight to take a strong stand against the dictatorial rule of Fulgencio Batista in Cuba when it had considerably more influence in Havana than it now has.

THE OTHER GOVERNMENTS of the Organization of American States have backed up the United States' answer to Nikita Khrushchev that the Monroe Doctrine today represents hemispheric, not nationalistic policy.

In return, the United States must back up the governments of Latin nations in their claim that there is a solution to Latin problems other than dictatorship of either right or left.

And that can be done only by establishing contact with the rank-and-file Latin Americans themselves. It will not be easy, because Fidel Castro and his ilk got there first.

But it is mandatory if the United States is to avoid the isolation that would make it an unwanted stranger in its own backyard.

Others get lumps in the throat about June. Or December. Some go for May, and some like October. There are 12 months to choose from and something to be said for each of them, although nothing much for February.

But every sampling reveals the same thing about September. Months come and go, but the one that most people wish would stay forever is September.

Ask them how they feel about sleet in November, snow in December, January, February and March, floods in April, unsettled weather in May, unseasonably low temperatures in June, thunderstorms in July, excessive humidity in August and killing frosts and leaf-racking in October and most of them will sigh, "Ah, September. . ."

Ah, September. . .

Now if ever we'll have perfect days, when the noonday sun will be blazing hot, when the morning sun will be a shimmering disc in a watery sky, when sunset will be a many-shadowed splendor and nights will be black velvet and sparkling silver.

We will have the mystery of mist-shrouded horizons, the marvel of dew so heavy it runs off like rain and the miracle of air so tonic it braces while it's breathed.

There will be the wondrous dark greens of mature leaves before they finish their allotted span, the lighter green of the grass blanket being readied for its winter role of cover and comfort for the chilled earth.

There will be that most encouraging sight—the scrubbed faces of children ready for school, the miraculous ressembly of the intricate machinery of education, the brave beginning of another academic year.

But most poignant will be the Act III denouement of summer. In September, we come to the end of the play, the moment when everything is revealed before the curtain falls. The hero kisses the heroine and everybody takes a bow.

We say goodbye to our favorite actors and take a last look at the stage on which they—and we—have been performing.

There is a last time for all the joys of summertime delight—a last swim, a last picnic, a last outing, a last rose, a last sunning.

Comes now the end of growing, gardening and grubbing.

Time to close the summer cottages, drain the swimming pools, put away tennis racquets, croquet sets and golf clubs.

Time for one last round of enjoyment before The End. Act III is always the best part of the show, the one missing in television but not in summer.

Summer began away back there, and this is what came of it all—another September—the perfect month—the one everybody mentions as the one they'd choose to spend eternity with, if they had a choice.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The two-room school at Shippingport opened with an enrollment of 55.

The State Department of Education promised St. Clair Township $12,500 for school purposes provided the township would provide an additional $60,000.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The bark of a dog saved the lives of a family of eight on Washington St. in their gas-filled home.

Milk dealers of the East Liverpool area met with farmer producers and heads of farmer organizations to consider a price increase.

Since the Republican Party was organized under that name, President Eisenhower and President Grant have been the only two members to serve two full terms in the White House.

Public Notice

There are times when what looks like a newspaper may not qualify as such for legal purposes.

In many places there are what are known as "shoppers" or "throwaways." They contain more or less news, they serve a purpose, but their primary purpose is advertising.

Such publications are useful and many of them have been in existence for years. Some of them make a fine appearance. But it is significant that they cannot qualify for second-class entry under the postal laws. This is because they do not come within the definition of a bona fide newspaper under the regulations.

Then again there are special interest newspapers which, within their limits, also serve useful purposes. These may be fraternal or religious in nature or may have to do with a specific trade, business, industry or profession.

But in the very great majority of cases the thousands of state laws governing public notices or legal advertising specify the use of bona fide newspapers of paid general circulation in the community for such purposes. This is because such newspapers usually give maximum coverage, circulate throughout the community, their main purpose is to publish editorial and news matters, and their paid circulations are undeniable proof of their merit, their influence and their being wanted in the community.

Climax In The South

By David Lawrence

Electoral Votes Swing Away From Democrats

The political revolution in the South may reach its climax in this presidential campaign.

David Lawrence

It was easy enough to attempt to explain away the defection of Texas and four other southern states in the 1928 election as based on the so-called "religious issue" but when in 1952 and 1956 several states in the South again voted for the Republican presidential tickets, there was developed another alibi —the personal popularity of Dwight Eisenhower.

But what has been generally overlooked is that Mr. Eisenhower in his campaign speeches repeatedly touched on a sore spot in southern politics — the tendency of the Democratic party to veer away from states' rights. Mr. Nixon will be saying the same thing in his tour of the South.

Mr. Eisenhower's speeches in 1952 gave the distinct impression that he sided with the South on states' rights.

It is true that he hasn't since gone along with the south's viewpoint on "segregation," because he has felt that his sworn duty is to enforce the Constitution as the Supreme Court of the United States, rightly or wrongly, has construed it. But there is no doubt that in his heart Mr. Eisenhower feels — as Vice President Nixon does — that basically the issues are moral and social and that new laws or court orders will not alone bring a change of thinking or custom.

BUT THE SOUTH may contribute electoral votes to the Republican ticket this year for reasons wholly disconnected from the segregation - integration controversy.

Actually on this issue the two party platforms do not differ materially. What is significant is that the South in large part has been slowly coming to the conclusion that the main reason for remaining Democratic in the last 100 years is disappearing.

The Democratic party, which long was faithful to the states' rights doctrines of Thomas Jefferson, has been abandoning them in favor of the Madison and Hamilton doctrines of centralization of power in the federal government.

The Republican party in recent years, on the other hand, has taken a position in favor of states' rights more in line with southern thinking.

Indeed, again and again northern Republicans have voted in Congress along with southern Democrats in a coalition that seeks to preserve the rights of the states.

This means more from an economic and political standpoint to the southerners than does the so-called "civil rights" issue, important though it still is in local politics.

The practical obstacle against the rise of the Republican party in the South is that for generations the Democratic state and city organizations have been supreme.

Selection of a candidate in the primaries of the Democratic party has been equivalent to election because of the absence of organized Republican opposition.

In most instances in southern states no candidates for Congress or for state and local officers are nominated by the Republican party.

THIS MEANS that campaign funds flow from the National Democratic party to the local Democratic candidates.

That's why so many of the southern senators and representatives already have endorsed the Kennedy - Johnson ticket though they know this means that many voters in their own states will disregard perfunctory endorsements and vote Republican anyhow in the presidential election.

There has been talk of third party tickets for president or at least "independent electors", but all these plans are likely to be of little avail for practical reasons.

The Republican candidates for president and vice president are on the ballot and are well known. Many southerners, feeling that this year both party platforms and the utterances of the candidates are about the same on the "civil rights" issue, will turn to other issues.

Perhaps one of the most important of all is the right-to-work issue. Sen. Byrd, (D-Va), for instance, said in a speech before the American Bar Association this week:

"I regard the right to work as I do the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. States have the right, the responsibility, and the duty to protect this fundamental freedom. This is my position and I shall fight for it. . . .

"We have learned that the more government is centralized in federal bureaucracy at Washington, the more it is susceptible to the arrogant influence of labor leaders."

THE PLEDGES in the Democratic party platform to get rid of right-to-work laws and the endorsement of Sen. Kennedy, Democratic nominee, by the AFL-CIO which is fighting for the repeal of those laws may cost him more electoral votes in the South than he can gain on this issue in the West and North as an offset.

In other words, economic issues — conservatism versus radicalism, and decentralization versus centralization — are tending more and more to swing the electoral votes of the South away from their traditional support of the Democratic party in past national elections.

Poor Performance

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

It was a big bust.

This dying summer session of Congress used up the taxpayers' money accomplishing practically nothing and strangled itself in politics, polemics, partisanship and poor performance.

Neither Democrats nor Republicans can claim a victory from what happened, for very little was done except to leave the voters more confused than ever on what result to expect from the November election.

For weeks voters' ears have been pounded with the leadership theme by the two presidential candidates—Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy—each claiming he's the one to do the leading.

Each had a chance to do his stuff in this congressional session. Kennedy more than Nixon because Nixon, by the nature of the vice presidency, has to stay pretty much on the sidelines.

Both suffered dismal defeats. Each backed his own kind of medical care program. The Senate approved a program much less than either wanted.

If this session of Congress showed anything it showed the frustration Nixon and Kennedy face in dealing with Congress next year, no matter which one wins in November.

The Senate Democrats, outnumbering the Republicans 66-34, had enough votes to ram through anything they wished—if they stuck together, but they didn't.

Nineteen Southern Democrats deserted the rest of their party to join the Republicans in killing Kennedy's medical care bill.

Thus was revealed once again the myth of regarding the Democratic party as a single party with a unified will and viewpoint.

In the November elections, only one-third of the 100 Senate seats are at stake and the Democrats outnumber the Republicans 66-34. The Democrats don't figure to lose their majority in November, no matter who wins the presidency.

In the House all 437 seats are at stake. But there the Democrats outnumber the Republicans 280 to 152, with five vacancies.

So, short of a Republican landslide, which no one is predicting, the Democrats don't expect to lose control in the House, either.

If Nixon wins the presidency he faces the prospect of dealing with a Democratic-run Congress, which can be a frustrating experience, as Kennedy ought to be able to tell him.

Kennedy, because he needs all the votes he can get and can't afford to split the party, won't be able in this election campaign to blame the Southern Democrats for what they did to him in this session of Congress.

Nixon's two main weapons, if he has to deal with a Democratic congress, will be the power to veto what he doesn't like and the hope of getting enough Democrats to trot along with enough Republicans to give him what he wants.

But what he'll get out of such an arrangement will pretty surely be conservative legislation since the conservatives of both parties in Congress are the dominating force and are likely to remain so.

If Kennedy wins he will always have hanging over him the threat of a coalition of conservative Democrats and conservative Republicans.

The X-ray was so named because its discoverer, the German psysicist, Wilhelm Roentgen, did not understand its nature. Since the letter "X," in mathematics, stands for an unknown quantity, he called his new discovery "the X-ray."

Both Democrats And GOP Juggling Campaign Slates

By The Associated Press

Both Democratic and Republican campaign schedules are being juggled.

Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, will head into New England on Friday. The trip originally was planned for Thursday.

Kennedy will be in Boston for a $1,000-a-plate fund raising affair, then fly to rallies at Manchester, N.H., and Presque Isle, Maine. He will speak at a dinner Friday night in Bangor, Maine.

Republican campaign planners announced Henry Cabot Lodge, GOP vice presidential nominee, will fill in at some political functions for Vice President Richard M. Nixon while the party's standard bearer is hospitalized with a knee infection. Nixon is expected to be sidelined until about Sept. 12.

Lodge will be free to devote his time to campaigning after his resignation as U.N. ambassador becomes effective this weekend.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty predicted Tuesday that Nixon and Lodge will be the winners in November. Hagerty, addressing a gathering of GOP party public relations consultants and speaking on his own "as a seasoned political observer," predicted "a large break-through" for the Republican ticket two weeks before the end of the campaign.

Nixon was revamping his campaign plans from his hospital bed, dictating speech drafts and contacting party leaders by phone.

Korean Girl

tacted Plummer, of Beaver Falls, who called Steele and told him he would give him the money through the Calvary United Presbyterian Church of Beaver Falls. He asked only that the little girl be named in memory of his cousin.

The Steeles became interested in adopting a Korean child after their son, Johnny, "heard in Sunday school that thousands of children were starving in the Far East and came home to ask his parents what they could do to help.

Steele said he talked to a Dr. Edward Kilbourne, a missionary, at the Hollow Rock Campgrounds near Wellsville and was told to write to V. A. Kelley of Christ Is The Answer Foundation at Vandalia, Ill.

KELLY TOLD the Steeles of Kwong Kwon Tai. In order to get the money to bring him over, the Steeles sold a new organ which they had gotten the Christmas of 1957.

On the day that the little boy arrived, Steele was laid off from his street department job at Beaver. And, coincidentally, he was laid off from the Union Barge line of Pittsburgh on the day that Kathy came here.

Garen has a scar on his chin as a result of a land mine which exploded, covering his body with shrapnel. Steele said it was sewed up like a ruptured football and Garen is being treated now by the Shriner Hospital in Philadelphia and will undergo plastic surgery later.

Once in Beaver, Garen showed a great fear of a cannon there. He explained later that in Korea he had been forced to lie down on roads while soldiers fired over him.

He is amazed at TV and the "electric eye" doors and stacks of food at American markets. He hasn't gotten his fill of ice cream yet, Steele said. Garen likes potatoes and Kathy goes for sweet foods.

Garen, who has moved ahead two classes in school since coming here, played third base, and Johnny, pitcher, for the Beglin Ford team which won 22 out of 23 games for a Little League baseball championship this summer.

GAREN SPEAKS English fluently and has forgotten his Korean tongue, except for his prayers. He repeats them as each says grace at meals. Steele said "it's wonderful to see how Garen cares for Kathy, who can't speak any English, and tries to tell her of the great country she now is in.

The Steeles, modest people, say they feel they will have contributed "some little thing" if they can raise the two Korean children and if some day they should enter the ministry as missionaries and return to Korea to help their people.

Steele said that Garen, young as he is, has a burning desire to do just that.

Steele and his wife are 47. The family attends the Christian Missionary Alliance Church of Beaver. There are six children in all.

The superintendent's office in New Cumberland said the uniforms are expected to add to the drivers' prestige and authority and make it easier to handle discipline problems while en route to and from classes.

Supt. Hall said the system is lacking only three or four teachers to complete the faculty but substitutes will be used in the meantime.

tacted Plummer, of Beaver Falls, who called Steele and told him he would give him the money through the Calvary United Presbyterian Church of Beaver Falls. He asked only that the little girl be named in memory of his cousin.

The Steeles became interested in adopting a Korean child after their son, Johnny, "heard in Sunday school that thousands of children were starving in the Far East and came home to ask his parents what they could do to help.

Steele said he talked to a Dr. Edward Kilbourne, a missionary, at the Hollow Rock Campgrounds near Wellsville and was told to write to V. A. Kelley of Christ Is The Answer Foundation at Vandalia, Ill.

KELLY TOLD the Steeles of Kwong Kwon Tai. In order to get the money to bring him over, the Steeles sold a new organ which they had gotten the Christmas of 1957.

On the day that the little boy arrived, Steele was laid off from his street department job at Beaver. And, coincidentally, he was laid off from the Union Barge line of Pittsburgh on the day that Kathy came here.

Garen has a scar on his chin as a result of a land mine which exploded, covering his body with shrapnel. Steele said it was sewed up like a ruptured football and Garen is being treated now by the Shriner Hospital in Philadelphia and will undergo plastic surgery later.

Once in Beaver, Garen showed a great fear of a cannon there. He explained later that in Korea he had been forced to lie down on roads while soldiers fired over him.

He is amazed at TV and the "electric eye" doors and stacks of food at American markets. He hasn't gotten his fill of ice cream yet, Steele said. Garen likes potatoes and Kathy goes for sweet foods.

Garen, who has moved ahead two classes in school since coming here, played third base, and Johnny, pitcher, for the Beglin Ford team which won 22 out of 23 games for a Little League baseball championship this summer.

GAREN SPEAKS English fluently and has forgotten his Korean tongue, except for his prayers. He repeats them as each says grace at meals. Steele said "it's wonderful to see how Garen cares for Kathy, who can't speak any English, and tries to tell her of the great country she now is in.

The Steeles, modest people, say they feel they will have contributed "some little thing" if they can raise the two Korean children and if some day they should enter the ministry as missionaries and return to Korea to help their people.

Steele said that Garen, young as he is, has a burning desire to do just that.

Steele and his wife are 47. The family attends the Christian Missionary Alliance Church of Beaver. There are six children in all.

ly a change from last year. For the first time, school bus drivers will be required to wear standard type uniforms of olive green, instead of street clothes.

The superintendent's office in New Cumberland said the uniforms are expected to add to the drivers' prestige and authority and make it easier to handle discipline problems while en route to and from classes.

Supt. Hall said the system is lacking only three or four teachers to complete the faculty but substitutes will be used in the meantime.

Crawford Cameron, a former member of the County Board of Education, begins his first year as principal of Weir High in Weirton. E. Russell Slack begins his second year as principal of Wells High in Newell. R. M. McFarland is principal of Chester, C. P. Smith, principal of New Cumberland, and R. O. Stevens is principal of Pughtown elementary.

Charles McKinney, former band director of Weir High, begins new duties as an assistant superintendent in charge of transportation.

Teachers, principals and bus drivers have been attending a three-day workshop this week in Weirton. The workshop ended today.

The superintendent said buses will run on approximately the same schedules as last school term.

Pupil Turnout Shows Gain In Midland Area

Increased registration was reported in Midland and Western Beaver District schools when Beaver County public schools opened Tuesday for the 1960-61 term.

Supt. Ralph H. Jewell at Midland said the registration was much more than anticipated.

The increase is expected in Lincoln High School. The count had not been completed at noon today.

A total of 660 were registered in the elementary grades, which is 12 less than last year. Of these, 351 are boys and 309, girls.

The registration by class is 123, kindergarten; 91, first; 97, second; 70, third; 81, fourth; 93, fifth; 91, sixth, and 14, special.

A total of 930, over 20 more than last year, entered Western Beaver County School District buildings yesterday, according to Frank Meredith, supervising principal.

An increase had been anticipated. The district is made up of the merged areas of Industry, Ohio Township and Glasgow Borough. It has four elementary buildings.

Victor F. Thomas Jr., supervising principal of South Side Schools near Hookstown, said a complete count has not been made but that registration is about the same as anticipated.

He said some students did not report yesterday because of the change in bus schedules. The district expected 500 at South Side High and 500 in the elementary building.

Thomas said it will take about three days to get an accurate account. He said there will be some changes as some students have reported from other districts and will have to be sent back.

The cafeteria was in operation yesterday.

Meanwhile, it was reported that the Paddock Bar on Route 30, about a half-mile from the Cactus Bar, had closed its doors Thursday, apparently because of the "heat."

A witness reported that slot machines in the Weirton American Legion home last night were "blazing" as usual, despite the raid in the northern end of the county.

The Cactus Bar raid occurred while the fledgling West Virginia State Crime Commission is preparing to open hearings Tuesday in Wheeling on illegal liquor and gambling operations in the Northern Panhandle.

The panhandle was visited earlier by Atty. F. Dean Nichols, the commission's general counsel, who said "this area is unique in that there are open violations of the liquor law and gambling devices law."

A number of Hancock County officials and others from Weirton have been subpeonaed to appear before the Crime Commission which has become the center of excitement in the state election campaign.

Among them are Sheriff Clayton H. Hobbs and Joseph Rodak, Weirton's new chief of police. Others summoned include Thayer McDaniel and Ernest Workman, both of Chester, and Charles Teemer, who was connected with Club 30 during its years of notoriety as a gambling casino.

Jaycees At Wellsville Plan Outstanding Citizen Event

Adding to the program for its third annual "Jaycee Day" celebration, the Wellsville Junior Chamber of Commerce announced today an outstanding citizen will be named as another highlight of the Labor Day event Monday.

The organization also announced today the names of 20 Wellsville girls who will compete in a beauty contest for the title of "Miss Jaycee of 1961."

Ralph Fusco, chairman, said the outstanding citizen of the city will be named and presented a plaque at a free dance Monday night in Beacom Memorial Gymnasium.

Other activities of the award-winning event will include a picnic for Tri-State area residents at Hammond Park, a baby contest, a parade and games and contests.

Contestants in the beauty contest, for single girls of Wellsville between the ages of 16 and 25, will ride in open convertibles in the parade Monday night before the free dance. Each girl is to be sponsored by a merchant.

Trucks from the West Point, Liverpool Township West and Calcutta departments also were summoned, chiefly to supply water to fight the blaze.

Firemen said one truck was sent to pump water from the home of Kenneth Rowe near the intersection of Lisbon St. Ext. and the Y. & O. Rd. Firemen said Longs Run Creek overflowed, flooding the basement and first floor of the home.

When firemen returned from the restaurant fire, they were called to the Yeager farm off the Y. & O. Rd. near the former speedwway to rescue a dog trapped in a building, Bryson said.

Council And Park Board Air Pool

Chester City Council and the Park Commission met informally Tuesday night to consider how to proceed with construction of the proposed swimming pool.

Council is expected to reach a decision on what method to use at its meeting next Wednesday night.

According to reliable sources, passage of a bond issue last June to raise $70,000 for the construction was voided because the ballot did not show the tax rate necessary to retire the bonds.

When Council passed a motion placing the issue on the ballot, it set a tax rate of two mills. However, when the issue appeared on the ballot, the rate was not listed.

The proposal was approved by a small majority.

5 Teenagers Injured In Speeding Accident

Five Salem teenagers were injured in a two-car crash while speeding on the Georgetown Rd. about four and a half miles south of Salem Tuesday night at 8:50, according to the Lisbon State Highway Patrol. A Wellsville man was injured in another crash early today, officers said.

The patrol said cars driven by Charles Greenfield, 17, and Theodore Thorn, 17, both of Salem were involved in the crash. Greenfield was following close behind Thorn, who had a blowout. Both cars were traveling at a high rate of speed, the patrol said.

The Thorn car swerved into a ditch and then careened back onto the highway where it was struck by the Greenfield vehicle.

Thorn suffered lacerations and abrasions of the head, face, and left hip. Four passengers in his car also were hurt, including:

Gary Jefferies, 15, of Salem, lacerations of the head; Jean Catlos, 17, of Salem, abrasions of both elbows and knees; Shirley Ehrhart, 17, of Salem, bruises and abrasions of the body, and Penny Hess, 17, multiple abrasions of the body and possible fractured left leg.

The boys were taken to Salem Central Clinic and the girls to Salem City Hospital.

Both drivers were arrested for reckless operation.

Herbert Means, 34, of 1201 Commerce St., Wellsville, suffered lacerations of the left ear and forehead when his car hit a utility pole on the Old Campground Rd. about a half mile north of Route 7 at 12:15 a. m. today.

Means was treated at City Hospital. Officers said he lost control on a curve, went left of center and into a ditch then hit the pole.

Ohio Reports Highest Week In Polio Cases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ten new polio cases were reported in Ohio in the past week, the highest single week total this year.

It brings the total number of reported cases in Ohio to 33 for the year, the State Health Department says.

The sudden surge is ironic, because it was at this point in 1959 that reported cases began running behind the 1958 totals for the first time. But James J. Papai of the department's Communicable Diseases Division pointed out that, even with a decline, 17 cases were noted in the comparable week of 1959 and 22 in 1958.

At this point last year, 122 cases had been reported in Ohio. In 1954, the last year before announcement of the Salk Vaccine, Ohio had 190 cases reported during this comparable week alone in late August.

The newest cases are in Clark County (two, both vaccinated, neither paralytic), Licking (one, not vaccinated, paralytic), Guernsey (one, not vaccinated, paralytic), Lake (one, vaccinated, paralytic), Portage (one, had two shots, paralytic), Scioto (two, not vaccinated, one paralytic, one not) and Van Wert (two, not vaccinated, one paralytic, one not).

The county-by-county total now is:

Cuyahoga 4, Medina 3 (with two deaths), Lucas 2 (one change of diagnosis to encephalitis, a brain inflammation), Licking 3, Van Wert 3, Erie 2, Clark 2, Scioto 2, Ross 1, Warren 1, Guernsey 1, Lake 1, Portage 1, Seneca 1, Franklin 1, Washington 1, Trumbull 1, Clermont 1, Muskingum 1 and Logan 1.

County Has 876 Mishaps, 14 Dead

A total of 876 accidents which resulted in 14 deaths were recorded in Columbiana County during the first 6 months this year, according to a report prepared by the Statistical Division of the Ohio Department of Highway Safety.

A total of 268 were mishaps which resulted in injury while 594 resulted only in property damage. One pedestrian was killed.

A total of 427 passengers and 26 pedestrians were hurt. Property damage totaled $405,460.

Statewide, a total of 757 persons were killed during the period. A total of 72,635 accidents have been logged by law enforcement agencies.

Nearby Jefferson County had a total of 720 accidents with 4 fatalities.

Agronomy Tour Scheduled Sept. 8

LISBON — Area farmers will have an opportunity to view new and improved farming practices on the agronomy tour to be held in Western Columbiana County on Thursday, Sept. 8, beginning at 10 a. m. at the James Rhodes farm, northwest of Winona.

Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture, said other farms will be visited and will be announced later. The "tourists" will see meadow seedings, high yield farms with conservation plans, pond construction, green chopping for dairy, new dairy barn housing and improved woodlot.

George Gist, extension specialist in agronomy of Ohio State University, will answer questions and discuss practices. Other resources representatives will be present at the conservation and woodland stops.

Much interest is expected in this farm tour, as none has been held in the county for several years, Myers said.

In the British Army, the rank of Field Marshal is equivalent to that of an American five star general.

Youth Caught, Faces Quiz In Death Of Kin

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — William Franklin Jenkins, 13, who ran away from home with his younger brother and a rifle several days ago after a scolding, was caught in eastern Scioto County early today and brought here for questioning about the slaying of his stepfather.

Sheriff's deputies, who had hunted for the boy since the body of 67-year - old Clifford Riley was found in a field near his farm home Tuesday, chased and caught him in a woods near Haverhill, 15 miles east of here.

William still had his rifle with him when he was caught, shortly before 7 a.m., but no shots were fired in his capture.

Riley was shot in the chest with a .22 caliber bullet. Deputies said it appeared he had been sitting down milking a cow when he was struck.

Scioto County Sheriff's Deputy Chleo Wiltshire said he saw the youth in a brushy area near the shooting scene Tuesday. Wiltshire said the youth held him at bay with a rifle.

Wiltshire quoted the youth as saying he wasn't afraid of the deputy and didn't believe Wiltshire would shoot him. Then he ran off into the woods, the deputy said.

Jenkins said his 8 - year - old brother left home several days ago after a scolding. But the younger boy returned home Monday night. Deputies said the boy has said nothing about the shooting.

Boy Scouts Honored At State Fair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Boy Scouts virtually had the run of the fairgrounds today as the 1960 Ohio State Fair feted the group on Boy Scout Day.

All Boy Scouts in uniform were admitted free to the fairgrounds. They were given free ride tickets and reduced prices for other attractions.

The day was scheduled also as Director of Agriculture Day. Robert H. Terhune, Ohio's agriculture director, set up the program to observe the 50th anniversary of scouting.

Also today, the Director of Agriculture Trophy, part of the fair's harness racing program, went on the line in a $26,000 race for which 58 three-year-old pacers were eligible.

Tuesday, Good Counselor, owned and driven by David McClain of Lima, won the $30,000 Buckeye State Pace for two-year - olds. three divisions plus a fourth "race-off" heat were needed to determine the winner.

The winner beat out 25 other horses and for the second straight day a McClain - owned horse emerged winner of the feature event. Monday his Miss Demon Song won the Ohio State Trot for two-year-olds.

Main attraction at the fair Tuesday was dedication of a fraternal and service organizations building, held in observance of Fraternal Day.

Participating in the ceremonies were Dudley L. Simms, Charleston, W. Va., a past president of Lions International, and former Ohio highway safety director Gordon Jeffery, supreme prelate of the Loyal Order of Moose.

The Ohio Grange had a day-long program in the arts and crafts building for Farm Organization Day.

A flock of livestock awards, most of them in the junior division, were given out Tuesday as the judging moved into full swing.

Second place went to the exhibit of Gerald Miller of Wood County—an Aberdeen angus steer named Kat. Miller took first place for Angus breed steer showmanship.

A 13-year-old Shelby County youth, Joseph DeLoye of Fort Loramie, exhibited the grand champion Holstein female in the junior show. He also won the 4-H senior and over-all titles for 2-year-old heifers.

Two sisters, Joyce and Mary Carolyn Fleming, ages 16 and 18 respectively, of near Delaware, battled each other for top honors in the Southdown ram lamb, yearling ram, yearling ewe and ewe lamb classes. Joyce was judged to have the champion ewe and Mary Carolyn the champion ram of the Southdown breed. Mary Carolyn also won second in 4-H showmanship.

Louise Douce, 12, of Hillsboro, won rosettes for both the champion Shropshire ram and ewe.

A Clinton County girl and an Allen County boy won top showmanship honors in the junior swine show. Gretchen Myers of Sabina won in the 4-H division, and Norbert Ebbeskotte of Delphos won in the FFA division.

From Political Viewpoint

Current Congress Session Seen Damaging Democrats

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposing party spokesmen agreed today the dog-days session of Congress now drawing to a close has been politically damaging to the Democrats.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the session had demonstrated that the Democrats "could develop no cohesive party spirit."

For that reason, he said Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the party presidential nominee, failed to get passage of several bills he wanted and didn't make good on promises to introduce others.

Kennedy has promised to carry his fight to the country.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, assistant Democratic leader, said in a separate interview that the session "has hurt Congress as a whole, but has hurt the Democrats the most."

"From the President on down the Republicans have been repeating the argument hourly, on the hour, that the Democrats have a two-thirds majority in the Senate and should be able to get what they want," Mansfield said.

"That, of course, is a majority in numbers but not in unity. The President himself has the equivalent of that majority in his veto power. And he must take the responsibility for defeating some measures with veto threats."

Mansfield indicated he thinks President Eisenhower made some political gains by resubmitting his 21-point legislative program and demanding quick action on it—which he didn't get.

Dirksen said there was no question in his mind that Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the GOP presidential nominee, had benefitted politically in the session.

Dirksen said that because of a liberal-conservative split among the Democrats Kennedy abandoned plans to initiate new legislation.

Calcutta Firemen Hold Practice At Car Fire

Calcutta volunteer firemen practiced using hoses and extinguishers on an old car that was set afire at their meeting Monday night.

Seventeen attended and Dale Horger, vice president, presided. Firemen discussed plans for sponsoring round and square dances this fall but no action was taken.

Preparations are being made for sanding and finishing the dance floor in the station. Firemen will operate a concession stand in the Glenmoor firemen's carnival this week.

Palestine City Board To Let Gasoline Order

EAST PALESTINE—The Board of Control may award a contract today for the purchase of gasoline for city trucks and vehicles. The bids were opened last week.

Sinclair Refining Co., operated by Baird Stewart, is the apparent low bidder at 22.9 cents per gallon. East Palestine Oil & Gas bid 25.8 cents. The city uses approximately 12,000 gallons a year.

Budget Bids Rejected By School Board

CHARLESTON (AP) — The colleges and other institutions under the State Board of Education are not getting its recommendation that their full budget requests be granted.

The board members decided yesterday by a 4-3 vote not to recommend the budgets, totaling $12,905,669, for the next fiscal year. They would have come to an increase of $2,965,886 over the present fiscal year.

What the members did instead was to peg their recommendation to fixed percentages of this year's expenditures. These vary from category to category. They work out to about $1,547,425 more, or $1,418,461 less than the request.

The board does not have the final say. That lies with the Legislature. It is under no more obligation to honor the recommendation than the request.

The differences in percentages between what the board decided to recommend and what was asked were as follows for the four categories of expenditures: personal services, 15 per cent against 28 per cent; current expenses, 20 per cent against 28 per cent; repairs and alterations, 10 per cent against 31 per cent; and equipment, 25 per cent against 78 per cent.

In terms of money, this is the way it looks: personal expenses, $1,179,973 against $2,205,571, in increase to this year's $7,866,492; current expenses, $225,265 against $315,651, an increase to $1,126,326; repairs and alterations, $63,036 against $196,565, in increase to $630,360; and equipment, $79,151 against $248,099, in increase to $316,605.

The colleges and other institutions also asked for $19,490,600 for new buildings and land. Only the money to pay for very little of this is in sight.

The last Legislature appropriated from surplus $550,000 for a classroom building at the State School for the Blind.

About another million is expected to become available during the next fiscal year from the board's capital improvement fund, which draws on the new registration fees.

According to an agreement already made a new administration building at Concord College, to cost $550,000, has top priority, along with a dining hall at Shepherd College, to cost $150,000.

The item with the next highest priority is a science, classroom building at Marshall College.

At the closing meeting of the board yesterday, President Harry Heflin of Glenville State College asked for $350,000 next year for renovation of a condemned administration building.

Shark Attacks Student Off Ocean City, N. J.

OCEAN CITY, N.J. (AP) — A terror-stricken man was hauled aboard a rescue boat Tuesday night screaming, "I've been bitten, I've been bitten by a shark."

Richard Chung, 25, a medical student, was swimming about a quarter mile off shore when the attack occurred.

Although his leg was bitten to the bone, doctors at Shore Memorial Hospital in nearby Somers Point listed Chung's condition as satisfactory and said he would not lose the limb.

Less than two weeks ago, John Brodeur, 24, of Jersey City was attacked by a shark just 25 yards off a Sea Girt beach. Brodeur's right leg was amputated Monday.

Photographer Dies

LONDON (AP)—Robert Landry, 46, widely known photographer, died Tuesday of a cerebral hemorrhage. He was for years a photographer for Life magazine and recently had been shooting special art on motion picture productions.

Hospital Aides Clear Of Neglect In Three Slayings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The head of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction has cleared Gallipolis State Institute attendants of any neglect in connection with three recent slayings of inmates.

Department head Dr. Robert A. Haines Tuesday submitted a report, signed by Asst. Commissioner Dr. J. Wylie McGough, to Gov. Michael V. DiSalle. The report gave a clean bill of performance to the attendants, but recommended additional personnel to prevent recurrences of the situation which led to the murders of three feeble patients by two teenage inmates. The teen-agers, who are mentally retarded, have admitted they killed the three "for kicks," hospital officials say.

The report said the ward in which the strangulation-slayings occurred housed 21 epileptics and 37 retarded patients, 33 of whom were under age 40, and 25 over age 40. Slightly more than half are of the "untidy" type, the report continued, half of the individuals are unable to talk and about one-third need assistance in eating.

The 40-hour week and various errands keep the personnel on duty to a minimum in the ward where the slayings occurred, the report said.

From Political Viewpoint

Current Congress Session Seen Damaging Democrats

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposing party spokesmen agreed today the dog-days session of Congress now drawing to a close has been politically damaging to the Democrats.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the session had demonstrated that the Democrats "could develop no cohesive party spirit."

For that reason, he said Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the party presidential nominee, failed to get passage of several bills he wanted and didn't make good on promises to introduce others.

Kennedy has promised to carry his fight to the country.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, assistant Democratic leader, said in a separate interview that the session "has hurt Congress as a whole, but has hurt the Democrats the most."

"From the President on down the Republicans have been repeating the argument hourly, on the hour, that the Democrats have a two-thirds majority in the Senate and should be able to get what they want," Mansfield said.

"That, of course, is a majority in numbers but not in unity. The President himself has the equivalent of that majority in his veto power. And he must take the responsibility for defeating some measures with veto threats."

Mansfield indicated he thinks President Eisenhower made some political gains by resubmitting his 21-point legislative program and demanding quick action on it—which he didn't get.

Dirksen said there was no question in his mind that Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the GOP presidential nominee, had benefitted politically in the session.

Dirksen said that because of a liberal-conservative split among the Democrats Kennedy abandoned plans to initiate new legislation.

Calcutta Firemen Hold Practice At Car Fire

Calcutta volunteer firemen practiced using hoses and extinguishers on an old car that was set afire at their meeting Monday night.

Seventeen attended and Dale Horger, vice president, presided. Firemen discussed plans for sponsoring round and square dances this fall but no action was taken.

Preparations are being made for sanding and finishing the dance floor in the station. Firemen will operate a concession stand in the Glenmoor firemen's carnival this week.

Palestine City Board To Let Gasoline Order

EAST PALESTINE—The Board of Control may award a contract today for the purchase of gasoline for city trucks and vehicles. The bids were opened last week.

Sinclair Refining Co., operated by Baird Stewart, is the apparent low bidder at 22.9 cents per gallon. East Palestine Oil & Gas bid 25.8 cents. The city uses approximately 12,000 gallons a year.

Budget Bids Rejected By School Board

CHARLESTON (AP) — The colleges and other institutions under the State Board of Education are not getting its recommendation that their full budget requests be granted.

The board members decided yesterday by a 4-3 vote not to recommend the budgets, totaling $12,905,669, for the next fiscal year. They would have come to an increase of $2,965,826 over the present fiscal year.

What the members did instead was to peg their recommendation to fixed percentages of this year's expenditures. These vary from category to category. They work out to about $1,547,425 more, or $1,418,461 less than the request.

The board does not have the final say. That lies with the Legislature. It is under no more obligation to honor the recommendation than the request.

The differences in percentages between what the board decided to recommend and what was asked were as follows for the four categories of expenditures: personal services, 15 per cent against 28 per cent; current expenses, 20 per cent against 28 per cent; repairs and alterations, 10 per cent against 31 per cent; and equipment, 25 per cent against 78 per cent.

In terms of money, this is the way it looks: personal expenses, $1,179,973 against $2,205,571, in increase to this year's $7,866,492; current expenses, $225,265 against $315,651, an increase to $1,126,326; repairs and alterations, $63,036 against $196,565, in increase to $630,360; and equipment, $79,151 against $248,099, in increase to $316,605.

The colleges and other institutions also asked for $19,490,600 for new buildings and land. Only the money to pay for very little of this is in sight.

The last Legislature appropriated from surplus $550,000 for a classroom building at the State School for the Blind.

About another million is expected to become available during the next fiscal year from the board's capital improvement fund, which draws on the new registration fees.

According to an agreement already made a new administration building at Concord College, to cost $550,000, has top priority, along with a dining hall at Shepherd College, to cost $150,000.

The item with the next highest priority is a science, classroom building at Marshall College.

At the closing meeting of the board yesterday, President Harry Heflin of Glenville State College asked for $350,000 next year for renovation of a condemned administration building.

Shark Attacks Student Off Ocean City, N. J.

OCEAN CITY, N.J. (AP) — A terror-stricken man was hauled aboard a rescue boat Tuesday night screaming, "I've been bitten, I've been bitten by a shark."

Richard Chung, 25, a medical student, was swimming about a quarter mile off shore when the attack occurred.

Although his leg was bitten to the bone, doctors at Shore Memorial Hospital in nearby Somers Point listed Chung's condition as satisfactory and said he would not lose the limb.

Less than two weeks ago, John Brodeur, 24, of Jersey City was attacked by a shark just 25 yards off a Sea Girt beach. Brodeur's right leg was amputated Monday.

Hospital Aides Clear Of Neglect In Three Slayings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The head of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction has cleared Gallipolis State Institute attendants of any neglect in connection with three recent slayings of inmates.

Department head Dr. Robert A. Haines Tuesday submitted a report, signed by Asst. Commissioner Dr. J. Wylie McGough, to Gov. Michael V. DiSalle. The report gave a clean bill of performance to the attendants, but recommended additional personnel to prevent recurrences of the situation which led to the murders of three feeble patients by two teenage inmates. The teen-agers, who are mentally retarded, have admitted they killed the three "for kicks," hospital officials say.

The report said the ward in which the strangulation-slayings occurred housed 21 epileptics and 37 retarded patients, 33 of whom were under age 40, and 25 over age 40. Slightly more than half are of the "untidy" type, the report continued, half of the individuals are unable to talk and about one-third need assistance in eating.

The 40-hour week and various errands keep the personnel on duty to a minimum in the ward where the slayings occurred, the report said.

Hopes Faint To Head Off PRR Walkout

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Negotiators make a last stab today—with apparently faint hope of success—at preventing a strike which will shut down the entire Pennsylvania Railroad.

More than 20,000 non-operating employes were prepared to strike the nation's largest railroad at one minute past midnight. The railroad notified most of its remaining 54,000 employes they will be furloughed so long as a strike might last.

Five-man negotiating committees from the railroad and the Transport Workers Union met until 1 a.m. today.

The railroad operates on 10,000 miles of tracks from New York and other East Coast cities to St. Louis. It already has laid off some employes because of a decline in freight business.

The TWU represents the bulk of those scheduled to strike. The System Federation Union represents the rest of the repairmen, maintenance men, car washers the like, and has been acting in unison with the TWU.

The issues in dispute are job classification and the repairing of PRR equipment by outside companies. Wages are not an issue.

Strike On Railroad Will Not Affect Mail

No change is anticipated in normal operating procedures at the East Liverpool and Wellsville Post Offices in the face of the threatened strike which will close down the entire Pennsylvania Railroad system.

The Post Office Department announced earlier that arrangements have been made to divert to truck or other carriers the volume of mail normally handled by Pennsylvania if the strike is not averted.

Both Postmaster Samuel M. Brown of East Liverpool and Postmaster Elmer Evans of Wellsville said they have not received any notification of any changes. Brown said he was told by an inspector at Rochester to keep operating as usual.

Most of the mail in this district is brought in by truck on "star routes" from Pittsburgh and Cleveland.

The only block anticipated is receiving mail from the west through Chicago.

Beaver Jury Indicts Merical For Assault

The Beaver County Grand Jury returned a true bill against Thomas Merical, 30, of Brighton Township Tuesday on a charge of criminal assault of his 16-year-old step-daughter.

The Grand Jury returned 18 true bills and one not true yesterday.

True bills also were returned against Leamon L. Black of East Palestine and Edison John Snyder of Negley on charges of perjury.

Merical, who escaped arrest five days after fleeing shots of arresting officers, gave himself up Aug. 15 at East Liverpool to Beaver County authorities.

The rape charges were filed by his wife.

Hopes Faint To Head Off PRR Walkout

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Negotiators make a last stab today—with apparently faint hope of success—at preventing a strike which will shut down the entire Pennsylvania Railroad.

More than 20,000 non-operating employes were prepared to strike the nation's largest railroad at one minute past midnight. The railroad notified most of its remaining 54,000 employes they will be furloughed so long as a strike might last.

Five-man negotiating committees from the railroad and the Transport Workers Union met until 1 a.m. today.

The railroad operates on 10,000 miles of tracks from New York and other East Coast cities to St. Louis. It already has laid off some employes because of a decline in freight business.

The TWU represents the bulk of those scheduled to strike. The System Federation Union represents the rest of the repairmen, maintenance men, car washers the like, and has been acting in unison with the TWU.

The issues in dispute are job classification and the repairing of PRR equipment by outside companies. Wages are not an issue.

Strike On Railroad Will Not Affect Mail

No change is anticipated in normal operating procedures at the East Liverpool and Wellsville Post Offices in the face of the threatened strike which will close down the entire Pennsylvania Railroad system.

The Post Office Department announced earlier that arrangements have been made to divert to truck or other carriers the volume of mail normally handled by Pennsylvania if the strike is not averted.

Both Postmaster Samuel M. Brown of East Liverpool and Postmaster Elmer Evans of Wellsville said they have not received any notification of any changes. Brown said he was told by an inspector at Rochester to keep operating as usual.

Most of the mail in this district is brought in by truck on "star routes" from Pittsburgh and Cleveland.

The only block anticipated is receiving mail from the west through Chicago.

Watching For Sharks

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Bathers kept a cautious watch for sharks today after three were spotted in Rhode Island waters Tuesday—two at Tiverton, one off Prudence Island.

Beaver Jury Indicts Merical For Assault

The Beaver County Grand Jury returned a true bill against Thomas Merical, 30, of Brighton Township Tuesday on a charge of criminal assault of his 16-year-old step-daughter.

The Grand Jury returned 18 true bills and one not true yesterday.

True bills also were returned against Leamon L. Black of East Palestine and Edison John Snyder of Negley on charges of perjury.

Merical, who escaped arrest five days after fleeing shots of arresting officers, gave himself up Aug. 15 at East Liverpool to Beaver County authorities.

The rape charges were filed by his wife.

Asks State To Invoke Doctrine

Houston Takes New Step To Head Off Integration

By The Associated Press

Fighting a last-ditch battle against integration, Houston has asked the state of Texas to invoke the ancient doctrine of interposition to prevent racial mixing in its public school classrooms.

The Houston School Board, under federal court order to integrate the first grades when school opens Sept. 7, appealed to Gov. Price Daniel to interpose himself between the district and the federal government.

The board said Daniel is the district's last hope for keeping schools segregated.

Integration of first grades of New Orleans public schools was delayed at least until Nov. 14 by one of the federal judges who recently enjoined Louisiana Gov. Jimmie Davis from interfering with the Orleans Parish School Board. U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright said the board informed him it would be impossible to comply with the Sept. 7 integration date because of Davis' seizure of the schools Aug. 17.

In Darlington, S.C., four young Negroes bearing anti-segregation placards were arrested as schools opened on their traditional segregated pattern.

Nashville, Tenn., quietly began the fourth year of its grade-a-year integration program and several Negroes were expected to register today in previously all-white Knoxville schools in the first year of a similar plan.

In Dunn, S.C., 10 Indians unsuccessfully sought to enter the all-white high school, and in St. Louis, the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the Dollarway, Ark., school district had applied the state school placement law illegally.

While still endeavoring to delay integration, Houston opened registration for its first grades and kindergarten Tuesday. No Negroes tried to enroll in all-white schools.

The board's appeal for a delay recently was turned down by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans. But attorney Joe Reynolds has mailed another request to the U.S. Supreme Court.

In appealing to the governor by a 4-2 vote, the board fell back upon one of the early theories of states rights—that a state could interpose its sovereignty to prevent usurpation of power by federal courts.

BROOKLYN'S newspaper war has ended and two lively monthly tabloids have merged.

Robert Spitzer, editor and publisher of the Community Journal in Manhattan Beach, retains his dual job, while Samuel Posner, formerly the directing genius of the Manhattan Beach Times, becomes advertising and distribution manager of the new Journal. As a result of this complicated financial deal, Manhattan Beach becomes a "one-newspaper" community. Each of these enterprising journalists is 12.

Ten reams of paper, purchased wholesale from a local printer, are used for an issue. The paper sells for five cents a copy. Circulation was a problem until the boys hit upon the idea of sneaking copies into super-market groceries awaiting delivery.

Gumbel Selected As New Head Of Conservation Unit

FAIRMONT, W. Va. — Walter C. Gumbel, conservationist for the Monongahela Power Co., has been elected president of the Soil Conservation Society of America.

Announcement of his selection was made at the society's 15th annual meeting now in progress at Guelph, Ont., Canada.

In his new office, Gumbel will head an organization of more than 12,000 members.

Gumbel long has been identified with conservation activities at the national level, serving as first editor of the society's official publication, the Journal of Soil and Water Conservation, for 10 years. He has served on one or more of the society's committees each year since its formation and presently is chairman of the water resources management committee.

His duties with Monongahela Power involve the promotion, development and coordination of soil and water conservation practices among agricultural, industrial and urban groups.

He came to the utility company in 1946. Prior to that he served as county agent in Hancock county, was associated with the Extension Service offices at West Virginia University and filled an assignment as Pennsylvania Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service before coming to Fairmont in his present capacity. He is a graduate of Penn State University.

30 Antique Autos Will Be In Parade

Some 30 antique cars are expected to participate in a parade tonight at 7 as part of the Glenmoor fire department's carnival.

Trophies will be awarded cars traveling the greatest distance, oldest, best antique, best classic, best sports car and most interesting.

The judges will be Harry Wilson and Paul White of East Liverpool and Harry Young of Beaver Falls.

The parade will form at Harvard Ave. and the Y. & O. Rd. and proceed to Lisbon St. and then east to Annesley Rd. and disband. The cars will be displayed at the carnival grounds afterwards.

Anyone interested in entering an antique, classic or sports car may register at the fire station before the parade, firemen said.

The carnival was scheduled to open last night but was washed out by the storm. It will continue through Labor Day.

Ring-shaped garnishes are good to eat and fun to make: slice a large radish and cut out the centers of the slices; poke a sprig of water cress or a small scallion (green onion) through the radish ring.

Victim Of Practical Joke

Illinois Factory Foreman To Be Feted In California

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Melvin Miller, a quiet, home-loving man, flies west today, straight into the welcoming arms of what he thinks is the wackiest bunch of Marines in the Corps.

Miller, 40, a tractor factory foreman, is the puzzled, but willing, victim of a practical joke that has assumed gigantic proportions.

It started a year ago in a Marine hangout called the Sandpiper Bar in Laguna Beach, Calif.

Capt. Joe Geston, now a major, was at the Sandpiper one night and mislaid his car. A buddy suggested "try Peoria" and he did.

Pulling a name out of the air, he asked the telephone operator to get him Melvin Miller in Peoria.

Good ol' Mel, as he's known now, answered the phone and—well, today he's going to California, all expenses paid by Maj. Geston and scores of his buddies who in Marine hangouts the world over learned the saga of good ol' Mel in Peoria.

But Mel is keeping both feet on the ground.

Lunch with actress Jayne Mansfield?

"What's so special about that?" he asked. "If I was home I'd have lunch with my wife."

So, Melvin Miller, an elder in his church and who believes in eight to four at the shop and en home, will board an airliner carrying a key to Poeria and a miniature tractor for Laguna Beach's mayor.

A motorcade and band will meet him at Los Angeles International Airport. His busy program calls for civic dinners, a visit to a race track for the "Melvin Miller Stakes," a luncheon with Miss Mansfield, a tour of Los Angeles, bullfights in Tijuana, Mexico, and an appearance in a television show.

The windup of a hectic week next Tuesday calls for Mel to attend a full-dress review of Marines at El Toro Marine Air Station and then to the Los Angeles Coliseum where he'll throw out the first ball for the Dodgers-San Francisco baseball game.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

A Paen Of Praise

Oscar Hammerstein's great gift was his mounting simplicity, which is perhaps the true sign of a mature man. When he was very young, he wrote "Lover, Come Back to Me."

John Crosby

It's a good lyric full of large, youthful, turbulent emotions and heartbreak. It's a big song, almost a whole short story, starting with a man asking, "Lover, where can you be," finding his love, losing his love, and wailing his lost love, a lot of territory to cover in a single song.

Many years and many heartaches and a lot of living later, Hammerstein wrote: "Oh, what a beautiful mornin'! Oh, what a beautiful day!"

The scope of the thought, you will notice, has shrunk drastically. This was a paean of praise to the great joy of being alive — not yesterday, or tomorrow, but right now. It was a nice day and it was enough to make a great song out of.

-:-

OF OUR GREAT and uniquely American artists, only Thornton Wilder matched Hammerstein in being able to find and give expression to the wondrous gift of being alive.

"Oh, What a Beautiful Mornin'" is far from the greatest of Hammerstein songs, but it may be the most typical and it's also a historic song—it's the first song he wrote with Richard Rodgers.

It was an honest song and that is the mark of a great song writer.

We have many suble, tricky, witty lyricists but Oscar Hammerstein was not one of them and he knew it. He himself wrote:

"I would not stand a chance with either (W. S. Gilbert or Lorenz Hart) in the field of brilliant light verse. I admire them and envy them their fluidity and humor, but I refuse to compete with them.

"Aside from my own shortcomings as a wit and rhymester—or perhaps because of them—my inclinations lead me to a more primitive type of lyrics. The longer I write, the more interested I become in expressing my own true convictions and feelings in the songs I wrote."

HAMMERSTEIN worried deeply about the truth and honesty of lyrics (sometimes almost worrying himself right out of a song. He almost didn't write "When I Grow Too Old To Dream" because it suddenly occurred to him that nobody ever gets that old. Fortunately, he let his instinct override his logic and wrote it.)

"The most important ingredient of a good song is sincerity," he said. "Let the song be yours and yours alone. However important, however trivial, believe it."

"This is not so easy a dictum as you might think and Hammerstein himself confessed it took him years to formulate this advice and more years before he could follow it.

HE WROTE MANY kinds of lyrics — character lyrics, atmosphere lyrics, love lyrics, clever lyrics (though that was not his metier), but personally I prefer his paeans to the life urge itself, to the joys of nature, to the changes of the seasons: "June is bustin' out all over! All over the meadows and the hills!" or: "I'm as restless as a willow in a windstorm. I'm as jumpy as a puppet on a string! I'd say that I had spring fever. But I know it isn't spring."

He wrote some big songs with vast themes. You can hardly get a bigger song than "Old Man River," which contemplates eternity itself.

But personally I prefer: "This is a real nice clambake. We're mighty glad we came." A song that celebrated the taste of the lobsters and the codfish chowder and the melted butter, because it's a life-renewing song. You felt wonderful after hearing it.

THERE WAS a wonderful sweetness to Hammerstein that — let's face it — sometimes got too syrupy for comfort. For some of us that "lark who was learning to pray" in "The Sound of Music" was a bit too much. But from the same show comes that wonderfully tripping song: "I'm 16, going on 17," and —for the last time—Hammerstein states his great theme, the turning of the earth, the ripening of life, the change of the seasons, the ever-renewing quality of youth and of life itself.

There is a tremendous hopefulness about Hammerstein that few other song writers ever felt or, if they did feel, had the courage to express.

He himself expressed it best in a song that was taken out of "South Pacific" and is little known:

"It makes you wish
"That the world could be
"As lovely as it looks."

Will Be 5th Husband

Lana Turner, 39, To Wed Sportsman Fred May, 43

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A handsome rancher and horse breeder will be Lana Turner's fifth husband.

He is Fred May, a crewcut sportsman who once tried to slug a Hollywood columnist he said had insulted her.

The couple stopped Tuesday in Santa Ana, en route to the races at Del Mar, and obtained a marriage license. They wouldn't say when they will wed.

Lana gave her age as 39. May is a young-looking 43. It will be his second marriage.

May made such a success of a half-dozen enterprises, including an export-import business, that he was able to retire to ranching at 38. His two children by his first marriage live at his Chino, Calif., ranch.

Friends wondered if Lana, when wed to May, might be able to regain custody of her teen-age daughter, Cheryl.

It was during the furor over Cheryl's escape from a county-operated girl's school that May tried to swing on a Hollywood trade paper writer.

The column to which May objected criticized Miss Turner's upbringing of Cheryl, now 17. Cheryl was made a ward of Superior Court after she fatally stabbed her mother's hoodlum lover, John Stompanato, in 1958.

At the time of the stabbing, Miss Turner was divorced from her fourth husband, actor Lex Barker. She had been beaten and threatened by Stompanato and was arguing bitterly with him, in the bedroom of her Beverly Hills mansion, when the tall, slender girl stepped in and stabbed him with a kitchen knife. A coroner's jury ruled it was justifiable homicide.

Miss Turner was previously wed to millionaire Henry J. (Bob) Topping, to Cheryl's father, restaurateur Steve Crane, and to bandleader Artie Shaw.

Fire Prevention Planning Opened By Chamber Unit

The safety committee of the Chamber of Commerce has started plans for the annual observance of National Fire Prevention Week in the East Liverpool area Oct. 9-15.

As in the 1959 drive, one of the highlights will be a dinner meeting of the chiefs of all area fire departments to discuss fire prevention work in their communities. The meeting is set tentatively for late September or early October.

A large supply of material has been received from the National Board of Fire Underwriters to aid in the local campaign. It includes placards for display in windows of business places and home safety check lists and other material for distribution to school children.

Alvin Arner heads the committee, which will meet again in September to complete plans. The planning was launched at a committee meeting Monday afternoon in the Chamber office. Also attending were Fire Chief Charles Bryan, Asst. Chief James Pelley and Glen Wilson, a representative of local fire underwriters, who are participating in the campaign.

Wreck Kills Pastor

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—A two-car crash on U.S. 6 near here Tuesday night fatally injured the Rev. Carl S. Hallberg, 71, of Bryan, the Highway Patrol said. The driver of the other car, James B. Frazier, 33, of Fremont, was uninjured.

2 Airmen Questioned In Death Of Woman

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—Two airmen from Clinton County Air Force Base were questioned Tuesday and a car was impounded for tests in the stabbing death of a young Negro woman.

But Sheriff Floyd Foote said there had been no break in the case, and the woman was not yet identified.

Neither airman was named.

The car was to undergo laboratory analysis for blood stains.

Sheriff Foote said the unidentified woman was apparently stabbed to death elsewhere and dumped in a remote section off Ohio 73 southwest of Wilmington near the air base. Her body was found Friday.

Steel Orders Show Pickup

NEW YORK (AP)—New orders for steel are showing a seasonal pickup, Iron Age Magazine said today.

The national metalworking weekly said, "Most steel companies now believe the third quarter will average about 55 per cent of capacity with the fourth quarter averaging slightly under 70 per cent.

"The rate may reach 75 or 80 per cent in October, before dropping back in November."

The last two weeks have been the best for new order volume in many months, Iron Age said. Also, the volume of "rush" orders is up, indicating many users have inventories at a low level.

However, the magazine noted: "The situation in Detroit is most puzzling to steelmakers. The order rate from automakers is not up to expectations. Some delivery setbacks and size cutbacks have occurred.

"This picture could change in a hurry. But apparently there is some apprehension about sales of early 1961 cars. This is reflected in caution against over-ordering in October and November.

"Automakers are well aware that with the operating rate languishing in the 50s, the steel industry will have no trouble producing the steel if auto production should surge in October."

Abolish CD, Sen. Young Urges Next President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio), a frequent critic of the civil defense program, Tuesday urged that the next president abolish what he called "the superannuated Civil Defense Agency" and turn its duties over to the Armed Forces.

"Instant retaliation is our only defense against nuclear attack," Young told the Senate. "Civil Defense serves only to give patronage jobs in cities, states and in the nation."

Young said it is certain that next January there will be a new administration that will, as he put it, view this entire problem realistically.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

A Paen Of Praise

Oscar Hammerstein's great gift was his mounting simplicity, which is perhaps the true sign of a mature man. When he was very young, he wrote "Lover, Come Back to Me."

John Crosby

It's a good lyric full of large, youthful, turbulent emotions and heart break. It's a big song, almost a whole short story, starting with a man asking, "Lover, where can you be," finding his love, losing his love, and wailing his lost love, a lot of territory to cover in a single song.

Many years and many heartaches and a lot of living later, Hammerstein wrote: "Oh, what a beautiful mornin'! Oh, what a beautiful day!"

The scope of the thought, you will notice, has shrunk drastically. This was a paean of praise to the great joy of being alive — not yesterday, or tomorrow, but right now. It was a nice day and it was enough to make a great song out of.

-:-

OF OUR GREAT and uniquely American artists, only Thornton Wilder matched Hammerstein in being able to find and give expression to the wondrous gift of being alive.

"Oh, What a Beautiful Mornin'" is far from the greatest of Hammerstein songs, but it may be the most typical and it's also a historic song—it's the first song he wrote with Richard Rodgers.

It was an honest song and that is the mark of a great song writer.

We have many suble, tricky, witty lyricists but Oscar Hammerstein was not one of them and he knew it. He himself wrote:

"I would not stand a chance with either (W. S. Gilbert or Lorenz Hart) in the field of brilliant light verse. I admire them and envy them their fluidity and humor, but I refuse to compete with them.

"Aside from my own shortcomings as a wit and rhymester—or perhaps because of them—my inclinations lead me to a more primitive type of lyrics. The longer I write, the more interested I become in expressing my own true convictions and feelings in the songs I wrote."

HAMMERSTEIN worried deeply about the truth and honesty of lyrics (sometimes almost worrying himself right out of a song. He almost didn't write "When I Grow Too Old To Dream" because it suddenly occurred to him that nobody ever gets that old. Fortunately, he let his instinct override his logic and wrote it.)

"The most important ingredient of a good song is sincerity," he said. "Let the song be yours and yours alone. However important, however trivial, believe it."

"This is not so easy a dictum as you might think and Hammerstein himself confessed it took him years to formulate this advice and more years before he could follow it.

HE WROTE MANY kinds of lyrics — character lyrics, atmosphere lyrics, love lyrics, clever lyrics (though that was not his metier), but personally I prefer his paeans to the life urge itself, to the joys of nature, to the changes of the seasons: "June is bustin' out all over! All over the meadows and the hills!" or: "I'm as restless as a willow in a windstorm. I'm as jumpy as a puppet on a string! I'd say that I had spring fever. But I know it isn't spring."

He wrote some big songs with vast themes. You can hardly get a bigger song than "Old Man River," which contemplates eternity itself.

But personally I prefer: "This is a real nice clambake. We're mighty glad we came." A song that celebrated the taste of the lobsters and the codfish chowder and the melted butter, because it's a life-renewing song. You felt wonderful after hearing it.

THERE WAS a wonderful sweetness to Hammerstein that — let's face it — sometimes got too syrupy for comfort. For some of us that "lark who was learning to pray" in "The Sound of Music" was a bit too much. But from the same show comes that wonderfully tripping song: "I'm 16, going on 17," and —for the last time—Hammerstein states his great theme, the turning of the earth, the ripening of life, the change of the seasons, the ever-renewing quality of youth and of life itself.

There is a tremendous hopefulness about Hammerstein that few other song writers ever felt or, if they did feel, had the courage to express.

He himself expressed it best in a song that was taken out of "South Pacific" and is little known:

"It makes you wish
"That the world could be

Will Be 5th Husband

Lana Turner, 39, To Wed Sportsman Fred May, 43

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A handsome rancher and horse breeder will be Lana Turner's fifth husband.

He is Fred May, a crewcut sportsman who once tried to slug a Hollywood columnist he said had insulted her.

The couple stopped Tuesday in Santa Ana, en route to the races at Del Mar, and obtained a marriage license. They wouldn't say when they will wed.

Lana gave her age as 39. May is a young-looking 43. It will be his second marriage.

May made such a success of a half-dozen enterprises, including an export-import business, that he was able to retire to ranching at 38. His two children by his first marriage live at his Chino, Calif., ranch.

Friends wondered if Lana, when wed to May, might be able to regain custody of her teen-age daughter, Cheryl.

It was during the furor over Cheryl's escape from a county-operated girl's school that May tried to swing on a Hollywood trade paper writer.

The column to which May objected criticized Miss Turner's upbringing of Cheryl, now 17. Cheryl was made a ward of Superior Court after she fatally stabbed her mother's hoodlum lover, John Stompanato, in 1958.

At the time of the stabbing, Miss Turner was divorced from her fourth husband, actor Lex Barker. She had been beaten and threatened by Stompanato and was arguing bitterly with him, in the bedroom of her Beverly Hills mansion, when the tall, slender girl stepped in and stabbed him with a kitchen knife. A coroner's jury ruled it was justifiable homicide.

Miss Turner was previously wed to millionaire Henry J. (Bob) Topping, to Cheryl's father, restaurateur Steve Crane, and to bandleader Artie Shaw.

Fire Prevention Planning Opened By Chamber Unit

The safety committee of the Chamber of Commerce has started plans for the annual observance of National Fire Prevention Week in the East Liverpool area Oct. 9-15.

As in the 1959 drive, one of the highlights will be a dinner meeting of the chiefs of all area fire departments to discuss fire prevention work in their communities. The meeting is set tentatively for late September or early October.

A large supply of material has been received from the National Board of Fire Underwriters to aid in the local campaign. It includes placards for display in windows of business places and home safety check lists and other material for distribution to school children.

Alvin Arner heads the committee, which will meet again in September to complete plans. The planning was launched at a committee meeting Monday afternoon in the Chamber office. Also attending were Fire Chief Charles Bryan, Asst. Chief James Pelley and Glen Wilson, a representative of local fire underwriters, who are participating in the campaign.

Wreck Kills Pastor

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—A two-car crash on U.S. 6 near here Tuesday night fatally injured the Rev. Carl S. Hallberg, 71, of Bryan, the Highway Patrol said. The driver of the other car, James B. Frazier, 33, of Fremont, was uninjured.

2 Airmen Questioned In Death Of Woman

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—Two airmen from Clinton County Air Force Base were questioned Tuesday and a car was impounded for tests in the stabbing death of a young Negro woman.

But Sheriff Floyd Foote said there had been no break in the case, and the woman was not yet identified.

Neither airman was named.

The car was to undergo laboratory analysis for blood stains.

Sheriff Foote said the unidentified woman was apparently stabbed to death elsewhere and dumped in a remote section off Ohio 73 southwest of Wilmington near the air base. Her body was found Friday.

Steel Orders Show Pickup

NEW YORK (AP)—New orders for steel are showing a seasonal pickup, Iron Age Magazine said today.

The national metalworking weekly said, "Most steel companies now believe the third quarter will average about 55 per cent of capacity with the fourth quarter averaging slightly under 70 per cent.

"The rate may reach 75 or 80 per cent in October, before dropping back in November."

The last two weeks have been the best for new order volume in many months, Iron Age said. Also, the volume of "rush" orders is up, indicating many users have inventories at a low level.

However, the magazine noted: "The situation in Detroit is most puzzling to steelmakers. The order rate from automakers is not up to expectations. Some delivery setbacks and size cutbacks have occurred.

"This picture could change in a hurry. But apparently there is some apprehension about sales of early 1961 cars. This is reflected in caution against over-ordering in October and November.

"Automakers are well aware that with the operating rate languishing in the 50s, the steel industry will have no trouble producing the steel if auto production should surge in October."

Abolish CD, Sen. Young Urges Next President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio), a frequent critic of the civil defense program, Tuesday urged that the next president abolish what he called "the superannuated Civil Defense Agency" and turn its duties over to the Armed Forces.

"Instant retaliation is our only defense against nuclear attack," Young told the Senate. "Civil Defense serves only to give patronage jobs in cities, states and in the nation."

Young said it is certain that next January there will be a new administration that will, as he put it, view this entire problem realistically.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I am a very lonely teen-ager. Polio has left me with a withered arm and a limp. People shun me.

I've read books on how to get along with people but they don't apply to cripples. My parents have had nice parties and invited kids my age. They come but they don't invite me back. I've asked girls to go out with me but they find polite excuses to refuse.

I'm not hard to look at and my condition isn't bad enough to create pity. The worst part of it is the limp.

I'm not feeling sorry for myself because I know there are many handicapped people in this world who are a lot worse off than I am. Can you help me? I'll settle for just one good friend. —C.V.

Dear C.V.: If you are lonely and without friends it's not because of the crippling effects of polio. The real handicap is your personality and your sour outlook on life. So long as you harbor the notion that a limp can stand in the way of your happiness—it will.

Millions of people who are not only handicapped but disfigured have a wide circle of interesting friends; they lead full lives, are invited, included, elected to office and marry and have fine families.

Re-read some of those books and then put the information to use. Knowledge is of no value unless you put it to work for you.

Unhealthy Attitude

Dear Ann: My husband and I go with a nice social group. A couple whom I will call Opal and John are our closest friends.

We've had several parties for new people in town and have always asked Opal and John. Almost without exception Opal and John have latched on to the new people, invited them over and left us out.

Because of our kindness, Opal and John are well established socially—in fact they get many more invitations than we do. We are having a party soon for new friends. Shall we include Opal and John?—USED PAIR.

Dear Used: I sense in your letter a tone of possessiveness which is unhealthy. Invite people to your home because you enjoy them, not because you want to be invited to theirs every time they entertain.

All friendships thrive better and last longer when you give one another breathing space.

I see no reason to invite O. and P. every time you entertain. In fact it would be better if you didn't.

TV Addicts

Dear Ann: We have two sons, 6 and 8 years of age. They like to watch TV, which my wife thinks is fine because it keeps them out of her hair for hours at a time.

The trouble is at night they sit in front of the TV until they are so tired they can't see straight.

Dear Out: Have you ever seen a 6- or 8-year-old who will leave a TV set and go to bed because he's tired? Chances are good you never have and you never will.

Youngsters need to be guided and directed. Your wife is letting her children down. Step in, Dad.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Nixon's Reported As Responding To Knee Treatment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon was reported responding satisfactorily today to treatment for a knee infection while he worked on campaign matters from a hospital bed.

Nixon entered Walter Reed Army Hospital late Monday for treatment of an infection that damages red blood cells. He is expected to be hospitalized for about two weeks.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary, reported treatment of the vice president's knee with five antibiotics was progressing satisfactorily. He said the infection was localized in the left knee joint and the swelling on the outside of the knee had gone down to some degree. The leg is in traction, weighted with sandbags to keep it immobilized.

President Eisenhower visited Nixon late Tuesday and reported "he looks fine."

Nixon worked on campaign matters sitting up in bed. He dictated speech drafts to his executive secretary, Rose Mary Woods, and conferred with other aides by phone.

Mrs. Nixon visited her husband in the presidential suite at the hospital. An aide said Nixon is paying the bill for the $34-a-day suite which includes a large sitting room, bedroom and sunroom.

2 Injured In Buffalo Chemical Plant Blast

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—An explosion tore out half a three-story chemical plant on Buffalo's industrial South Side Tuesday night, injuring two workers and showering debris over a wide area.

Flames from the blast were seen 10 miles away. People living nearby said their houses shook.

Police said the two injured men were part of a four-man night shift at the National Aniline Co., plant.

Sante Fe, N. M., founded in the winter of 1609-10 by the Spanish Governor Pedro de Peralta, is the oldest capital city in continental United States.

Bodies Of Missing Family Found In Plane's Wreckage

They were Henry Griffing, 53; his wife, Josephine, about 54; their daughter, Linda, 20; and son, Philip, 24.

Police said the plane had struck the tallest tree on top of a ridge and crashed to the ground, apparently bursting into flames.

Two employes of a Buckstown lumber company came upon the plane while surveying timberland in a densely wooded area of northern Somerset County.

The bodies were found in the burned cabin. Wreckage was scattered more than 30 feet. Only the tail section was intact.

The discovery ended a widespread two-week search by the Civil Air Patrol and numerous volunteers in parts of West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Authorities said the plane, a Cessna 180 Skyland, left Teterboro bound for Oklahoma City about 11 a.m. Aug. 16. They said it probably crashed between 2 and 2 p.m. the same day.

The elder Griffing was president of Video Independent Theatres, Inc., which offered a $5,000 reward for locating the family.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures will average 6-10 degrees above normal. Normal high 80 north to 82 south, normal low 69 - 70. Little temperature change throughout period. Rainfall will total less than .1 inch in scattered showers about Monday.

Science Looks Into Extracts That Make Insect Germproof

A Northwestern University scientist told today of extracts from the adult moth that can kill many bacteria.

But these extracts are potent as germ killers only in laboratory tests. They have no apparent capabilities as germ fighters in human beings.

Still they have scientific interest.

They were first found in crude extracts of juvenile hormone—that chemical entity that acts as a youth factor, helping regulate growth in insect larvae, and gradually diminishing as insects grow older.

Extract of this hormone from the abdomens of adult moths first showed antibacterial action, Dr. Lawrence L. Gilbert told a meeting of American Institute of Biological Sciences.

In the arena of the laboratory dish or vessel, this substance destroyed such potent germs as staphylococcus aureus.

This is a germ—looking under the microscope much like a cluster of golden beads—that has evolved resistance to antibiotics and plagues hospitals.

Later, Dr. Gilbert and his fellow researcher, Ralph A. Slepecky, found that the bacterial killing action was not in the juvenile horome. It was, in fact, due to another chemical.

They suggest this chemical may be a fatty acid. If so, it is a material which would probably be used for food or energy in the human body before it could exhibit a germ killing effect.

Royal jelly—that substance by which bees nourish growing queen bees—exhibits a similar, but not identical, germ killing effect against some bacteria, the scientists said.

Trio Arrested In $30,000 Jewelry Theft

NEW YORK (AP)—Three men were arrested today in connection with the spectacular $30,000 theft of gems from a show window at Cartier's famed 5th Ave. jewelry house June 25.

Police said they found what they believe to be all the precious stones, stripped of their platinum settings, in a plain brown paper bag. They also recovered a bundle of valuable securities.

The arrests, climaxing a joint investigation by city police and FBI agents, came after an elaborate trailing operation through the city Tuesday night.

About 30 men in seven cars, keeping in touch by radio and taking short turns to allay suspicion, shadowed two of the men as they drove meanderingly from Manhattan to Brooklyn and back.

Around midnight, the two men in the car, Kingdon deNormand, 51, of the Bronx, and Joseph Coffey, 23, of Manhattan, were finally stopped. A third man, Juan Pasquale Fuca, 27, was arrested at his Manhattan home.

Police found the bag of jewels in the car along with a tape-wrapped hammer. In deNormand's pocket, police said, was a packet of negotiable bonds estimated to be worth $30,000. Police said the bonds were believed stolen in burglaries last month.

The three men, all with criminal records, denied any part in the Cartier burglary. DeNormand told officers he got the gems and bonds from "a friend of mine named Frank."

DeNormand was charged with receiving stolen goods, Coffey with burglary, and Fuca with vagrancy for associating with known criminals.

Coffey, police said, is the burglar who shattered Cartier's window in the early hours of June 25 and scooped up more than 30 pieces of jewelry.

A Cartier guard, Conrad Millson, caught a fleeting glimpse of a man diving through the window of a car and saw the car race away.

If you want to frost a batch of cinnamon rolls that have been baked in a 9-inch pan, you'll find ¾ cup sifted confectioners sugar (moistened with a little milk) is just the amount to use to spread over the top of the rolls.

West Germans Call Off Trips After Red Ban

BERLIN (AP) — Many West Germans canceled trips to Berlin today because of threatening gestures by East Germany's Communist regime.

The Red regime suddenly put into effect at midnight a five-day ban on travel into the east sector of Berlin by citizens of West Germany who did not have a special permit.

The Reds said their special target was an association of former war prisoners and Germans expelled from Communist territories who open their annual convention in West Berlin today. The Communists said they were trying to protect their territory from "revenge seekers and militarists."

Western authorities warned all travelers to Berlin of the Communist order.

Farmers Urged To Seek Refunds For Gas Tax

LISBON — Farmers may apply up to Sept. 30 for refunds on the federal tax on gasoline used on the farm, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

Claims for gas tax refund are made only once each year and the period covered is from July 1 to June 30 of the previous year. Claims must be made on form 2240. Those filing a claim in prior years should have received a copy of this form in the mail. Persons who never filed in former years may obtain a copy either at the extension office or the Internal Revenue office.

Federal tax refunds amount to 3 cents on gasoline used from July 1 to Oct. 1, 1959, and 4 cents on that used from Oct. 1 to June 30.

"If a refund is desired, now is the time to complete the necessary application," Myers said.

Peoples Gas To Take Over Grove City Firm

The Peoples Natural Gas Co. plans to acquire the Union Heat & Light Co. of Grove City, which serves 7,000 customers in Mercer, Lawrence, Vanango and Butler Counties.

According to H. Donald Borger, president of the Western Pennsylvania utility, Union Heat & Light will become a part of the Peoples Gas system Oct. 1, pending approval by the Public Utility Commission of Pennsylvania and the Securities Exchange Commission.

Newell Women's Club Given Federation Institute Report

A report on the adult education institute of the West Virginia Federation held at West Virginia University in Morgantown was presented by Mrs. Jacob Turner when the Newell Women's Club held its first meeting of the season Monday night in the American Legion home.

Miss Betty Buben and Mrs. George Cawthorn, president, also attended the institute.

The pictorial magazine of West Virginia sponsored by the state federation have been received and are being distributed to members for sale at $1.10 a copy. Members who did not receive copies of the brochure may obtain them from Mrs. Harry Springer.

The Northern District meeting will be held Sept. 10 at the Simpson Methodist Church in Moundsville. Reservations are to be in by Tuesday. Members desiring to attend are to contact the president.

Miss Betty Buben, finance committee chairman, read the proposed budget, which was accepted. The scholarship fund again was accepted as part of the budget and will be acted upon at the conclusion of the school term.

Miss Buben distributed sample birthday calendars which the club will sell again this year. Orders are being taken.

The president announced the new leader for Girl Scout Troop 64, sponsored by the club, will be Mrs. Virgil Grimm. The first troop meeting will be held Sept. 14 at the Presbyterian Church.

A thank-you note for the dinner and dance was received from the Senior Class of 1960 of Wells High School. Devotions were led by Mrs. Gertrude Stevens. Mrs. Cawthon presided. Other committee reports were given.

The next event will be a dinner meeting at Piatt's Tea Room in Wellsville Sept. 12 at 6:30 p. m. Reservations are being taken by Mrs. Betty Rector, social committee chairman. Members are to meet at the Legion home at 5:45 for transportation. Reservations are to be made by Tuesday.

Hostesses included Mrs. Cawthon, Mrs. Buben and Mrs. Stevens.

European Visit Told To Chester Kiwanians

Dave McPherson, a member, related his experiences on a European visit this summer at the meeting of the Chester Kiwanis Club Tuesday night at City Hall auditorium.

He told of his trip through France, Germany, Switzerland, Austria, Italy and Spain and a visit with his brother, John McPherson, and family, who have returned to live in Pittsburgh.

Harold Ossman announced plans have been completed for a family barbecue Tuesday at 6:10 p. m. in City Park. Prizes will be awarded to the women attending.

Ossman also announced his resignation from the club because of a conflict with the night he attends a course at Duquesne University.

The club set Nov. 3-4 for the annual pancake supper to be held in the auditorium. Alvin Arner Jr., president, presided.

American League Has Wildest Night In Many Seasons

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It will be a long time before American League fans forget Tuesday night.

In Washington, there was a wild, whirling 13-inning contender in which the White Sox and Senators scored one run between them in the first seven innings and 20 runs in the next three. Chicago won 11-10.

In Boston, the Red Sox took both ends of a twi-night doubleheader from Detroit after 7½ hours and 15 innings. Boston won the opener 9-8 in 15 innings and the second game 5-2 in 10 innings.

Boston's Pete Runnels went on a batting rampage with nine hits. Boston Manager Mike Higgins also went wild, charging out to the mound to square off with Jim Bunning after the Tiger pitcher had pegged Don Buddin with a pitch.

In New York, a torrential rain and flash floods kept many would-be Yankee Stadium customers home but those who made it saw the Yankees rally in the ninth to defeat Kansas City 5-3 and maintain their 1½ game lead over Baltimore.

Only in Baltimore, there was no untoward incident as the Orioles whipped the Indians 4-1.

In the National League, Pittsburgh defeated Los Angeles 5-2, Milwaukee shut out St. Louis 10-0, San Francisco nipped Philadelphia 3-2 and Chicago ended Cincinnati's 5-4.

For seven innings in Washington, the fans saw a tight pitching duel between the White Sox' Frank Baumann and the Senators' Pedro Ramos. Washington led 1-0 at the end of seven.

Chicago took a 2-1 lead in the eighth on two walks and singles by pinch-hitter Ted Kluszewski, Ray Semproch and Minnie Minoso.

Washington bounced back with four runs in its half, three coming on Jim Lemon's 31st home run.

The White Sox roared back with five runs in the ninth. Minoso's three-run homer giving them a 7-5 lead. Washington tied it on Billy Gardner's two-run blow in the 10th. Nellie Fox doubled home two runs and Gardner's wild throw gave Chicago two more for an 11-7 lead. The Senators bounced back with three runs on a double by Bob Allison, a triple by pinch-hitter Julio Becquer and a home run by Lenny Green.

Kennedy took his, a double in the 13th, scored Frank Malzone with the winning run for Boston in its first game. A stunning error by Tiger shortstop Chico Fernandez permitted pinch-hitter Tom Brewer to score the winning run that had passed Don Buddin with a pitch.

In the 10th inning of the second game, Bobby Osborne led off the score to the 10th with his 17th home run for Detroit. Runnels added three hits in the nightcap to tie Chicago's Al Smith at 124 for the batting lead.

In the seventh inning of the second game, Buddin was hit on the forehead by Jose Bunning's pitch. That brought Higgins racing out of the dugout to charge Bunning with deliberate beaning.

Three ex-Kansas City players starred in the Yankee victory. With the score tied 3-3 in the ninth, Joe DeMaestri, traded by the A's to the Yankees last winter, singled and was sacrificed to second. Hector Lopez, another ex-athletic, singled DeMaestri home with the winning run. Clete Boyer, Frank Baumann and the Senators' Pedro Ramos, Washington lost

It will be a long time before American League fans forget Tuesday night.

In Washington there was a wild, whacky 15-inning contention in which the White Sox and Senators scored one run between them in the first seven innings and 20 runs in the next three. Chicago won 11-10.

In Boston, the Red Sox took both ends of a twi-night doubleheader from Detroit after 7-4 losers and 15-innings. Boston won the opener 5-4 in 15 innings and the second game 1-0 in 10 innings.

Boston's Pete Runnels went on a batting rampage with nine hits. Boston Manager Mike Higgins also went wild, charging out of the tunnel to square off with Jim Bunning after the Tiger pitcher had beaned Dom DiMaggio with a pitch.

In New York, a torrential rain and flash floods kept many would-be Yankee Stadium customers home, but those who made it saw the Yankees rally in the ninth to defeat Kansas City 5-3 and maintain their 1½ game lead over Baltimore.

Only in Baltimore, there was no interest incident as the Orioles whipped the Indians 4-3.

In the National League, Pittsburgh defeated Los Angeles 5-2, Milwaukee shut out St. Louis 10-0, San Francisco topped Philadelphia 2-1 and Chicago routed Cincinnati 14-4.

Per usual innings in Washington, the fans saw a fight between the White Sox' Frank Baumann and the Senators' Pedro Ramos. Washington left 14 at the end of seven.

Chicago took a 2-1 lead in the eighth on two walks and singles by pinch-hitter Ted Kluszewski, Bob Serena and Minnie Minoso. Washington tallied back with two runs in the half, three coming up on Jim Busby's 21st home run.

The White Sox moved back with five runs in the sixth, Minoso's three-run homer giving them a 7-5 lead. Washington tied it on Billy Gardner's two-run blow in the fifth. Mickey Vernon clubbed home two runs and Gardner's wild throw gave Chicago two more for an 11-7 lead. The Senators bounced back with three runs on a double by Bob Allison, a triple by pinch-hitter Julio Bonham and a home run by Lennie Green.

Runnels' sixth hit, a double in the 15th, scored Frank Malzone with the winning run for Boston in its first game. A fielding error by Tiger shortstop Chico Fernandez permitted pinch-hitter Tom Brewer to score the winning run in the 10th inning of the second game. Bucky Harris had tied the score in the 10th with his 17th home run for Detroit. Runnels added three hits in the nightcap to the Chicago's Al Smith at .324 for the batting lead.

In the seventh inning of the second game, Boddie was hit on the forehead by Tiger Bunning's pitch. That brought Higgins racing out of the dugout to charge Bunning with deliberate batting.

Three ex-Kansas City players starred in the Yankee victory. With the score tied 2-2 in the ninth, Joe DeMaestri, traded by the A's to the Yankees last winter, singled and was sacrificed to second. Easter Layer, another ex-Athletic, singled DeMaestri home with the winning run. Clete Boyer, still another ex-KC player, drove in the first two Yankee runs with a home run in the 13th.

Jesse Owens Gave Them Track Records To Break

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ROME (AP)—The rise of a new and phenomenal generation of record-smashing track champions can be laid at the feet or palmary to the name of Jesse Owens, the all-time great of America's Olympians.

"I feel like a father who has come to watch his successful children," the brilliant Ohio State athlete of the 1936 mid-1936 Olympic Games.

JESSE OWENS
Set 4 Marks In One Day.

His records in the 100 (10.3 seconds) and the broad jump (26 feet 5¼ inches) still are the targets of the world's greatest stars during the next ten days.

"It is very comical [illegible] that I found myself with mixed emotions," Owens said.

"At first, I was resentful. It was like seeing a star out measuring it for many years—then having it suddenly snatched away.

"There was disappointment and a great feeling of emptiness. Then I realized that I had set the records which once long gone by new heights. It gave me a wonderful warm feeling."

Owens today is lean and hard, although at 35 he is 20 pounds above his wrestling of the 1936 games. Tremendous energy and drive give him a look of youthful

J. M. Wells To Play For U.S. In Canada

J. M. Wells of Newell, retired pottery executive, again has been chosen to play on the United States Seniors Golf team starting its annual match with Canada. Wells left today for Montreal, where the match will be played Thursday and Friday over the Beaconsfield Club.

This marks the 14th time Wells has been named to the team. The United States has won each match against the Canadians.

"It gives me a wonderful sensation to watch them win and to hang up new records. I feel that I have had a part in it."

It was Owens who on an unforgettable afternoon, May 25, 1935, at Ann Arbor, Mich., set four records within the space of an hour. One of them—the broad jump record—endured until Ralph Boston bettered it a couple of weeks before the opening of these 17th Olympic Games.

In the 1936 games at Berlin, with Hitler gone-stepping toward World War II, the lithe Negro from Cleveland won four gold medals in an amazing manner show. He won the 100 and 200 meter races, the broad jump and shared in the sprint relay race.

Bucs Top LA, 5-2; Spahn Blanks Cards

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Milwaukee fails to overtake the front running Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League pennant race, it won't be Warren Spahn's fault.

The brilliant Braves' southpaw pitching ace went all out for one time in his illustrious career. Until his third contest of the season Thursday night and the 50th of his career he defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 10-0.

It was Spahn's ninth straight victory and ninth in 10 decisions since the All-Star break. His season record is 17-7.

The victory enabled the Braves to cop a three-game losing streak and move back into second place by a fraction of a point in front of the Cards. Milwaukee and St. Louis are 0½ games behind the Pirates who defeated Los Angeles 5-2. San Francisco topped Philadelphia 3-1 and Chicago routed Cincinnati 14-4 to afternoon games.

New York maintained its 1½ game lead over Baltimore in the American League race, defeating Kansas City 5-3 as the Orioles downed Cleveland 4-1. Chicago's third-place White Sox outslugged Washington 11-10 in 15 innings and Boston swept a twi-night double header from Detroit 5-4 and 1-0. The first game went 15 innings and the second 10.

Spahn, nearing 40, clashed the Cards with five hits for the 124th victory of his 13-year career. He struck out 10 of them, he's won 10 or more games in 12 of those years.

Home runs by Roberts, Clemente and Dick Groat helped Pittsburgh's Bob Friend register his first victory over the Dodgers since July 23, 1948. A turnout of 41,343 pushed the Dodger home attendance over the two million mark for the second straight year.

Sam Jones struck out 14 and drove in the winning run in a pitching duel with the Phillies' Robin Roberts. Neither pitcher issued a base on balls. Jones won his 13th with a single in the fifth that scored Willie Kirkland, who had tripled home Orlando Cepeda with the Giants' first run.

Ernie Banks hammered a home run off Joe Nuxhall in the last of the ninth to break up a 4-4 deadlock and give the Cubs their fifth victory in the last six games with the Reds.

Massillon Will Have 15 Lettermen To Throw Against Potters Sept. 9

What can the East Liverpool Potters expect when they invade Massillon to inaugurate the 1949 football season Sept. 9?

Potters At Campbell For Scrimmage Today

Coach Lee Weddell's Potters scrimmaged Campbell Memorial High this morning at the Youngstown area school. Campbell is scheduled to scrimmage the Potters again Saturday morning at Patterson Field.

Going through the Massillon High School brochure which reaches the city immediately with a drawing of a tiger streak "Tiger running with a football, the list of returning lettermen has backs and 11 linemen with a combined street rush.

The No. 1 ball carrier on the squad is Art Hastings, a unanimous choice for All-Ohio first team honors last year. He is listed at 160 pounds in the brochure, which exclaims: "He's back on team, plays of both offense and defense in 1948. Lacks sequence [illegible] after winner on squad. Packs great speed and power with ball or blocking."

Martin Gregor, 180-pound halfback: "Best all-rounder in squad in 1948. Tied for leading scorer with 60 points. Will contribute team in 1949. Hardest tackler on team. Should go with edge this year."

John Larson, 180-pound quarterback: "Possible sophomore in All-Ohio Joe Sagarsia. Has good size, but lacks experience. Could key team's offensive attack."

Charles Bauer, 185-pound end: "Very strong, both physically and as blocker. Possible flaw not providing pivotal [illegible] don't stop him. Called 'Charley-Horse' by mates because he always has one."

Thurmon Bartlett, 175-pound end: "Possesses great potential. Lacks experience and will participate, but these should come. Has good hands, should be good receiver. Started with [illegible] start of last year."

Virgil Sabreen, 185-pound tackle: "Is competitor of '48 Tigers. Should prove outstanding, possibly best lineman in the case. Excellent lead blocking skill. Best potential in long time at Massillon."

Lee Hampton, 185-pound tackle: "Lacks" is possible first team defensive tackle. Has good speed for use. Came along toward the end of last season. Action in 1948 was limited."

Gary Wells, 180-pound guard: "Was not pleasant surprise in 1948. Moved in at offensive tackle after third game. Uses natural. May go both ways in 1949."

Jay Miller, 180-pound guard: "Was two-way regular in 1948. Played guard on offense. Moved in end on defense. Possesses great desire and determination. May be top performer."

Jim Hostetler, 170-pound guard: "The Cat has great speed. Possible most agile on squad. Has fair, but cold mind of 1949 season. Great downfield blocker. Potential unlimited."

Pete Antalone, 185-pound guard: "Improves greatly after a slow start last season. Natural strength. Has good rear. Best hard hitter. Will play defensive end."

Pirate Manager Loses Tenth Instead Of Appetite, Sleep

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Manager Danny Murtaugh is losing neither his hair nor his appetite under the mounting pressure of trying to produce Pittsburgh's first pennant winner in more than three decades.

Reporters were interrupted while interviewing Murtaugh after the Pirates beat Los Angeles 10-0 for his 90th victory. "Gentlemen," Danny said, "You'll have to excuse me a minute where the Pirates stand now. The little Irishman explained his partial upper plate has been getting away from him lately.

"I was arguing with an umpire the other day, he said, "and the damned thing jammed in my mouth. Then it fell out. But I caught it. Damndest catch I ever made."

Danny spread a little powder on the plate, inserted it in the mouth he has employed with several intriguing mishandled Vern Law fastballs of chewing tobacco, and then proceeded to dodge all questions about where the Pirates stand now.

Browns Make First Showing In Northwest

FOREST GROVE, Ore. (AP)—The Cleveland Browns, now in their 15th professional football season, have played to more than 10 million fans, but Saturday night's game in Portland against San Francisco will be their first appearance in the Northwest.

A crowd of about 30,000 is expected to watch the Browns try to hand the 49ers their first exhibition game setback in four starts. Both Cleveland and San Francisco are shaping up as prime challengers for division titles.

Last year each club had a 7-5 record, and Cleveland tied with Philadelphia for runnerup to New York in the Eastern Conference. The 49ers tied for third with Green Bay in the Western Conference, which was topped by the league champs, the Baltimore Colts. San Francisco beat Cleveland last year, 21-20, in regular season play.

The 49ers this year include 30 veterans on the 43-member squad.

The receiving side of the 49er pass offense has been improved with addition of rookie Monty Stickles of Notre Dame, a 6-foot-3, 240-pounder contributing blocking strength, and Tom Osborne, also a rookie end, looking good on catching.

Y. A. Tittle and John Brodie have divided the passing chores in San Francisco's conquests of Dallas, Washington and Philadelphia, each completing 25 out of 35 attempts.

Veteran Hugh McElhenny, at 31, has featured the running attack, averaging 6½ yards a carry in the three exhibition games.

The Browns go into the game with three injured players—Gern Nagler, whose wrenched knee may keep him from duties at end; Wilmer Fowler, a halfback who has a pulled leg muscle; and tackle Dick Schafrath, who was kicked in the heel.

FIGHT RESULTS

Miami Beach, Fla.—Allan Harmon, 160¼, Jamaica, knocked out Sal Fuentes, 157, Cuba, 4.

"We will try to better our 5-3 record of last season, but will be missing eight graduates and two lettermen who did not report this season," Coach Ray Russell said after looking over the 38 candidates who showed up when drills began two weeks ago.

"Dick Strong and Jim Harris, both regulars last season, failed to show for practice, which leaves us with more spots to fill," Russell added.

Replacing such stars as Jim Summer, a three-year regular with the Golden Eagles, and others like Lester Blanchard, Bob Coleman, Jerry Marks, Jim Russell, Frank Shagnot and Russell Wood, will be a tough job.

UNITED WAS the heaviest team in the district last season and boasts one of the biggest centers in holdover Bob Koerlin who is beginning his third yeaar as a regular.

Koerlin weighed in at the start of practice sessions at 230 pounds, and will go both ways this season to bolster the middle line.

Koerlin joins two other lettermen seniors who will form the nucleus of Russell's club. In all, Russell has eight lettermen back — three seniors and five juniors.

Alan Knizat, a fourth-year man, will return to his guard post. He hits 175 on the scales, while Paul DeVille, a 140-pound senior, is being counted on at halfback.

The junior group is a good one with two fast backs and a couple of heavy linemen. The backs are Larry Marks (165) and Dave Metzgar, a scatback at 135.

Pete Schweigert, the second largest gridder on the squad at 210, will be at a tackle spot along with Glen Willis, another lettermen, who goes about 175 pounds. The other letter winner is Jim Sturgeon, a 150-pound, glue-fingered end.

Although he did see quite a bit of action last season, John Hanna, a 155-pound junior, did not earn a letter but is the No. 1 candidate for quarterback now.

Ken Metzgar, a brother of Dave, is also being considered for a halfback spot. He weighs 135, the same as his brother.

Browns Make First Showing In Northwest

FOREST GROVE, Ore. (AP)—The Cleveland Browns, now in their 15th professional football season, have played to more than 10 million fans, but Saturday night's game in Portland against San Francisco will be their first appearance in the Northwest.

A crowd of about 30,000 is expected to watch the Browns try to hand the 49ers their first exhibition game setback in four starts. Both Cleveland and San Francisco are shaping up as prime challengers for division titles.

Last year each club had a 7-5 record, and Cleveland tied with Philadelphia for runnerup to New York in the Eastern Conference. The 49ers tied for third with Green Bay in the Western Conference, which was topped by the league champs, the Baltimore Colts. San Francisco beat Cleveland last year, 21-20, in regular season play.

The 49ers this year include 30 veterans on the 43-member squad.

The receiving side of the 49er pass offense has been improved with addition of rookie Monty Stickles of Notre Dame, a 6-foot-3, 240-pounder contributing blocking strength, and Tom Osborne, also a rookie end, looking good on catching.

Y. A. Tittle and John Brodie have divided the passing chores in San Francisco's conquests of Dallas, Washington and Philadelphia, each completing 25 out of 35 attempts.

Veteran Hugh McElhenny, at 31, has featured the running attack, averaging 6½ yards a carry in the three exhibition games.

The Browns go into the game with three injured players—Gern Nagler, whose wrenched knee may keep him from duties at end; Wilmer Fowler, a halfback who has a pulled leg muscle; and tackle Dick Schafrath, who was kicked in the heel.

FIGHT RESULTS

Miami Beach, Fla.—Allan Harmon, 160¼, Jamaica, knocked out Sal Fuentes, 157, Cuba, 4.

"We will try to better our 5-3 record of last season, but will be missing eight graduates and two lettermen who did not report this season," Coach Ray Russell said after looking over the 36 candidates who showed up when drills began two weeks ago.

"Dick Strong and Jim Harris, both regulars last season, failed to show for practice, which leaves us with more spots to fill," Russell added.

Replacing such stars as Jim Summer, a three-year regular with the Golden Eagles, and others like Lester Blanchard, Bob Coleman, Jerry Marks, Jim Russell, Frank Shagnot and Russell Wood, will be a tough job.

UNITED WAS the heaviest team in the district last season and boasts one of the biggest centers in holdover Bob Koerlin who is beginning his third yeaar as a regular.

Koerlin weighed in at the start of practice sessions at 230 pounds, and will go both ways this season to bolster the middle line.

Koerlin joins two other lettermen seniors who will form the nucleus of Russell's club. In all, Russell has eight lettermen back — three seniors and five juniors.

Alan Knizat, a fourth-year man, will return to his guard post. He hits 175 on the scales, while Paul DeVille, a 140-pound senior, is being counted on at halfback.

The junior group is a good one with two fast backs and a couple of heavy linemen. The backs are Larry Marks (165) and Dave Metzgar, a scatback at 135.

Pete Schweigert, the second largest gridder on the squad at 210, will be at a tackle spot along with Glen Willis, another lettermen, who goes about 175 pounds. The other letter winner is Jim Sturgeon, a 150-pound, glue-fingered end.

Although he did see quite a bit of action last season, John Hanna, a 155-pound junior, did not earn a letter but is the No. 1 candidate for quarterback now.

Ken Metzgar, a brother of Dave, is also being considered for a halfback spot. He weighs 135, the same as his brother.

THIS SEASON United will compete in the newly-organized Turnpike Conference. The league will be made up of six teams with Canfield, Goshen Union, Jackson-Milton, Springfield Local and Warren St. Mary's.

The Eagles play a nine-game card, with other home attractions Randolph Sept. 17, Greenford Oct. 1, Carrollton Oct. 22 and Mineral Ridge Oct. 29.

Russell has a new assistant this season in Mel Klinger, a former high school star at Youngstown Woodrow Wilson and a graduate of Youngstown University.

Sept. 17 Randolph, home
Sept. 23 Chester, away
Oct. 1 Greenford, home

U.S. Shotput Aces Lead Way Into Track And Field Events

Nieder, O'Brien, Long Carry Hopes

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

ROME (AP)—America's husky shotput aces, favored to make a sweep of the medals, led the way today into the opening of the Olympic track and field competition, where the United States hopes to overhaul Russia jn the unofficial team point standings.

Bill Nieder, Dallas Long and two-time champion Parry O'Brien didn't even bother to pull off their sweat suits as they qualified for this afternoon's shotput final.

Nieder, the former University of Kansas ace who holds the world record at 65 feet, 7 inches, and the other two Yanks easily tossed the shot past the 54-11¾ qualifying minimum.

The United States, trailing Russia by 26 points, also got rolling in its pursuit of points as Dave Sime, Ray Norton and Frank Budd eased into the second round of the 100-meter dash along with coworld record holders Armin Hary of Germany and Harry Jerome of Canada.

The only other track and field event to be decided today, however, was the women's broad jump—where only one U.S. gal, the 1956 silver medal winner, Willye White of Greenwood, Miss., qualified.

But while the U.S. swimming squad also advanced two for tonight's finals in the men's 100-meter backstroke event — Bob Bennett of Encino, Calif., and Frank McKinney of Indianapolis —all was not the best for Uncle Sam.

The three U.S. entries, Joann Terry of Indianapolis, Irene Robertson of Inglewood, Calif., and Shirley Crowder of Atlanta, were eliminated in the opening heats of the women's 80-meter hurdles. Miss Robertson was last in her heat, won by Russia's great Irina Press in 10.7 seconds, equalling the Olympic record set in 1956 by Australia's Shirley Strickland.

The United States also suffered a setback in rowing, when the pair with coxswain from the Lake Washington (Seattle) Rowing Club was beaten by four lengths by Russia. America, defending champion in this event, gets a second chance to make Saturday's final in Thursday's repechages.

Sime, the Duke dandy from Durham, N.C., Hary and Jerome—all running in separate heats—were timed in :10.5, with Sime finishing third, the last qualifying spot, in his race. Hary and Jerome share the record of 10 flat.

Great performances in swimming Tuesday that won two gold medals gave the U.S. team 72 points, only one behind Germany and 26 points behind the Russians who were capitalizing in fields they were expected to dominate.

The swimming duels electrified a crowd of 10,000. And there were offbeat incidents to magnify the interest Carolyn Schuler of Orinda, Calif., broke her own Olympic record in winning the finals of the 100-meter butterfly race. Bill Mulliken of Champaign, Ill., triumphed in the 200 meter breaststroke finals.

Miss Schuler's great victory was almost lost in the shuffle. They paid more attention to 14-year-old Carolyn Wood of Portland, Ore., who was just about in the lead at the turn in the butterfly and suddenly bumped into the lane buoy. She grabbed the chain and seemingly quit. She climbed out of the pool and ran into hiding, in shame. Later, she explained she had swallowed water and "couldn't go on."

Germany, pushing in the team battle, got a great boost in the aquatics from Dresden's diving doll, Ingrid Kramer. She copped the 10-meter (33 feet) platform title from Paula Jean Pope, Santa Ana, Calif., America's veteran of three Olympics. Paula burst into tears, knowing this was her last crack at Olympic competition..

wthe Russians sprang two surprises. Viktor Kapitonov won the 175.3-kilometer (108.6 miles) cycling road race, beating out Italy's Livio Trape, in a sport Moscow never has bothered much with before.

And in fencing, the Soviet Viktor Jdanovich captured Russia's first fencing gold medal, the men's individual foils. The U.S. Arthur Axelrod, of New York, at 39, won the third place bronze-first time since 1932 that the Americans had done so well at fencing.

One of the great disappointments for the American team came in the wrestling. The last three U.S. entries were eliminated as Russia and her satellite East European comrades completely dominated the Greco-Roman division.

In the late morning men's track events, the three U.S. entries qualified for the second round in the 800 meters. Ernie Cunliffe of Claremont, Calif., eased in with 1:48.8, and Jerry Siebert of Willits, Calif., had 1:48.9. Tom Murphy of Brooklyn qualified by winning the final heat in 1:52.1.

A second U.S. rowing crew, also from Lake Washington, looked for another chance in the repechages after being beat in the four oars without cox by Britain in the final 100 meters.. wthe Yanks were Art Ayrault, Ted Nash, John Sayre and Dick Wailes.

CAROLYN SCHULER, 17-year-old swimming star from Orinda, Calif., prepares to leave the water after winning the women's 100-meter butterfly final in Olympic competition Tuesday in Rome. Miss Schuler lowered her own Olympic record in the event by splashing to victory in 1:09.5, three-tenths of a second faster than her mark in a qualifying heat Monday. (UPI Telephoto)

19 Trotters Set For Rich Hambletonian

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Nineteen of the world's fastest 3-year-old trotters, with Uncle Sam and Elaine Rodney cast as favorites, awaited the bugle call for today's running of the $144,590 Hambletonian — richest harness race in history.

The field of four fillies and 15 colts was spotted with strong contenders for the record winners purse of $85,019. But Uncle Sam and Elaine Rodney were regarded as the top choices for the 35th renewal of the sulky classic — the Kentucky Derby of harness racing.

A number of trackside observers predicted a record-breaking performance on the fast one-mile clay track of the Du Quoin State Fairground. Emily's Pride's 1:59 4-5 Hambletonian record was set in 1958 on the betless Du Quoin track.

Uncle Sam, with a 1:59 3-5 clocking in pre-Hambletonian competition, has been pronounced ready for the first heat post time, 2:30 p.m. (CDT).

The bay colt suffered a bruised front foot in a race last week. However, driver-trainer Lou Huber Jr. said the bruise has healed.

The United States, trailing Russia by 26 points, also got rolling in its pursuit of points as Dave Sime, Ray Norton and Frank Budd eased into the second round of the 100-meter dash along with coworld record holders Armin Hary of Germany and Harry Jerome of Canada.

The only other track and field event to be decided today, however, was the women's broad jump—where only one U.S. gal, the 1956 silver medal winner, Willye White of Greenwood, Miss., qualified.

But while the U.S. swimming squad also advanced two for tonight's finals in the men's 100-meter backstroke event — Bob Bennett of Encino, Calif., and Frank McKinney of Indianapolis —all was not the best for Uncle Sam.

The three U.S. entries, Joann Terry of Indianapolis, Irene Robertson of Inglewood, Calif., and Shirley Crowder of Atlanta, were eliminated in the opening heats of the women's 80-meter hurdles. Miss Robertson was last in her heat, won by Russia's great Irina Press in 10.7 seconds, equalling the Olympic record set in 1956 by Australia's Shirley Strickland.

The United States also suffered a setback in rowing, when the pair with coxswain from the Lake Washington (Seattle) Rowing Club was beaten by four lengths by Russia. America, defending champion in this event, gets a second chance to make Saturday's final in Thursday's repechages.

Sime, the Duke dandy from Durham, N.C., Hary and Jerome—all running in separate heats—were timed in :10.5, with Sime finishing third, the last qualifying spot, in his race. Hary and Jerome share the record of 10 flat.

Great performances in swimming Tuesday that won two gold medals gave the U.S. team 72 points, only one behind Germany and 26 points behind the Russians who were capitalizing in fields they were expected to dominate.

The swimming duels electrified a crowd of 10,000. And there were offbeat incidents to magnify the interest Carolyn Schuler of Orinda, Calif., broke her own Olympic record in winning the finals of the 100-meter butterfly race. Bill Mulliken of Champaign, Ill., triumphed in the 200 meter breaststroke finals.

Miss Schuler's great victory was almost lost in the shuffle. They paid more attention to 14-year-old Carolyn Wood of Portland, Ore., who was just about in the lead at the turn in the butterfly and suddenly bumped into the lane buoy. She grabbed the chain and seemingly quit. She climbed out of the pool and ran into hiding, in shame. Later, she explained she had swallowed water and "couldn't go on."

Germany, pushing in the team battle, got a great boost in the aquatics from Dresden's diving doll, Ingrid Kramer. She copped the 10-meter (33 feet) platform title from Paula Jean Pope, Santa Ana, Calif., America's veteran of three Olympics. Paula burst into tears, knowing this was her last crack at Olympic competition.

wthe Russians sprang two surprises. Viktor Kapitonov won the 175.3-kilometer (108.6 miles) cycling road race, beating out Italy's Livio Trape, in a sport Moscow never has bothered much with before.

And in fencing, the Soviet Viktor Jdanovich captured Russia's first fencing gold medal, the men's individual foils. The U.S. Arthur Axelrod, of New York, at 39, won the third place bronze—first time since 1932 that the Americans had done so well at fencing.

One of the great disappointments for the American team came in the wrestling. The last three U.S. entries were eliminated as Russia and her satellite East European comrades completely dominated the Greco-Roman division.

In the late morning men's track events, the three U.S. entries qualified for the second round in the 800 meters. Ernie Cunliffe of Claremont, Calif., eased in with 1:48.8, and Jerry Siebert of Willits, Calif., had 1:48.9. Tom Murphy of Brooklyn qualified by winning the final heat in 1:52.1.

A second U.S. rowing crew, also from Lake Washington, looked for another chance in the repechages after being beat in the four oars without cox by Britain in the final 100 meters.. wthe Yanks were Art Ayrault, Ted Nash, John Sayre and Dick Wailes.

CAROLYN SCHULER, 17-year-old swimming star from Orinda, Calif., prepares to leave the water after winning the women's 100-meter butterfly final in Olympic competition Tuesday in Rome. Miss Schuler lowered her own Olympic record in the event by splashing to victory in 1:09.5, three-tenths of a second faster than her mark in a qualifying heat Monday. (UPI Telephoto)

19 Trotters Set For Rich Hambletonian

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Nineteen of the world's fastest 3-year-old trotters, with Uncle Sam and Elaine Rodney cast as favorites, awaited the bugle call for today's running of the $144,590 Hambletonian — richest harness race in history.

The field of four fillies and 15 colts was spotted with strong contenders for the record winners purse of $85,019. But Uncle Sam and Elaine Rodney were regarded as the top choices for the 35th renewal of the sulky classic — the Kentucky Derby of harness racing.

A number of trackside observers predicted a record-breaking performance on the fast one-mile clay track of the Du Quoin State Fairground. Emily's Pride's 1:59 4-5 Hambletonian record was set in 1958 on the betless Du Quoin track.

Uncle Sam, with a 1:59 3-5 clocking in pre-Hambletonian competition, has been pronounced ready for the first heat post time, 2:30 p.m. (CDT).

The bay colt suffered a bruised front foot in a race last week. However, driver-trainer Lou Huber Jr. said the bruise has healed.

'Parents Night' Is Set Thursday By Nonpareil

The Blue and White Nonpareil Club will hold its annual "Parents Night" for parents of East Liverpool High School's football squad Thursday.

Final plans for the activity were announced by Laird Christen, chairman, at the club's weekly meeting Tuesday night in the YMCA.

Parents of the Potter squadmen will meet at 8 p. m. at Westgate Junior High School and proceed from there to Patterson Field for a tour of the stadium and a look at its recent improvements.

The group will later return to the Westgate cafeteria for a talk and movie by Coach Lou Venditti. A buffet lunch will be served for parents, players, managers and coaches and club members.

About 150 are expected to attend. The committee headed by Christen includes Glenn Barnett and Greg Ganas.

The club heard a report on the Potter squad from Coach Venditti who said he "was discouraged" with a scrimmage game against Beaver Local Saturday. Quarterback Ken Cunningham, who missed the scrimmage with an infected knee, has returned to action, Venditti said.

Center Gary Montgomery, who suffered an injured hip, is expected to be out of action only three or four days. The coach cited the lack of depth and experience but added fans can expect a "big club" in two years.

The next meeting will be Tuesday night in the YMCA.

Olson To Battle Undefeated Jones In Chicago Bout

This will be the first time Olson has appeared in Chicago since he lost his title here to Sugar Ray Robinson in 1955. Robinson knocked him out in the fourth round of that match.

The bout will be televised by the ABC network at 10 p.m. (EDT). Scoring will be under the 5-point must system.

The 32-year-old Olson, fighting as a light heavy since he returned from a brief retirement in 1956, won his last eight fights and has moved to sixth place among 175 pound contenders.

Jones, 24-year-old New Yorker, is undefeated in 15 professional fights and now ranks fourth among the lightheavys.

The kickoff return championship of the National Football League last season was won by Abe Woodson, playing his first full season for San Francisco. Woodson had an average of 29.4 yards for 13 returns.

Orioles Top Cleveland And Stigman's Sub, 4-1

BALTIMORE (AP)—Dick Stigman, scheduled to pitch for the Cleveland Indians in the opener of a two-game series with the Baltimore Orioles Tuesday night, was scratched from the lineup when he developed a virus infection.

The young southpaw was sent back to the hotel when trainer Wally Bock discovered that he was running a temperature.

Jim Perry took Stigman's place on the mound and absorbed his seventh defeat to go with his 15 victories as the Orioles took a 4-1 decision.

Bobby Locke, who pitched well in relief against the New York Yankees last Saturday, will open for the Indians tonight. He will be opposed by southpaw Steve Barber.

Chuck Estrada, 22-year-old right hander who is a strong candidate for rookie of the year honors, beat Perry. It was his 15th victory, tieing him with Perry as the winningest pitchers in the American League. Estrada has lost eight.

A fourth-inning home run by Joe Morgan was the only run off Estrada. It was Morgan's first American League homer. The Indians' new third baseman also got an infield single. The only other Cleveland hits were singles by Rocky Bridges and Tito Francona.

The Orioles got a run in the first inning on a leadoff double by Jackie Brandt, an infield out and a sacrifice fly by Brooks Robinson. A homer by Gene Stephens gave them another run in the second.

Baltimore made it 4-0 in the third on a single by Gene Woodling and a home run by Jim Gentile.

Perry pitched scoreless ball over the next four innings and Jack Harshman retired the Orioles without a hit in the eighth.

The homers by Stephens and Gentile boosted the total hit off Perry this season to 29. That is only three short of the club record set by Earl Wynn four years ago.

Dick Kadis, Invalid Since '56 Geneva Football Injury, Is 25

CLEVELAND (AP) — If his mother's love and hope could work a miracle, Dick Kadis would cut his own birthday cake a year from now when he will be 26.

But Tuesday, when the family gathered in their home at Seven Hills with relatives to mark Kadis' 25th birthday, the only way he could let them know his appreciation was by the way he looked at them.

Since Sept. 29, 1956, when he was injured in a football game at Waynesburg, Pa., while playing as a lineman for Geneva College, Kadis has been unable to talk, to walk, to move his arms freely or even to eat normally. Two of his three daily meals are tube-fed.

Brain surgery and more than two years in hospitals used up a total of about $7,000 which was raised for him in fund drives—the largest ones in Pittsburgh and nearby Beaver Falls, home of Geneva College.

He still needs day and night nurses on eight-hour shifts and is visited biweekly by his doctor. Next month his mother, Mrs. Pauline Kadis, plans to take him by train to Denver for physiotherapy treatments.

"I think they can help him," she said. "He is improving some. He's more alert and understands more. He gets most of what you are saying."

"He talks to us with his eyes—he has very expressive eyes," she went on.

In the first year after his injury, Kadis was in an almost complete coma and his weight fell to about 125 pounds. Now he is back to about 200.

He listens to the radio in the morning and watches television later in the day, showing especial interest in any sports programs.

Course To Be Offered In Small Boat Handling

A course of free instruction in small boat handling will be given at the Recreation Center in Wick Park, Youngstown, next Wednesday.

This is the sixth annual class sponsored by the Youngstown Power Squadron, an organization of local boatmen in co-operation with the United States Power Squadrons.

While safety afloat is the main theme of the course, the following phases of boat handling will be taught:

Seamanship, nautical rules of the road, lights and government regulations, navigational aids, the mariners' compass.

Registration will be at 7 p. m. The course is free and open to men and women in the tri-state district.

Hirsch Washes Hands Of Billy Cannon Case

"We see no benefits to be derived from pursuing the case any further."

Hirsch said Tuesday the Rams are dropping the right to appeal a federal court decision which sent Cannon, former Louisiana State University All-America halfback, to Houston of the American Football League.

USGA Event Opens Play In 33 Sections

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

A hole in one on the New Orleans Country Club course helped Bert Burdick of Baton Rouge, La., to a round of 64 and a 36-hole total of 134, good for top honors as the nation's amateur golfers bid for berths in the USGA national tournament.

The tournament will be held Sept. 12-17 at the St. Louis Country Club.

Competitions were held in 33 sections Tuesday, with three Monday, and a total of 181 places were scheduled to be filled. There were 18 exemptione bringing the St. Louis total to 200.

Burdick's 64 round matched the course record held by professional Freddie Haas. He got his ace on the 182-yard par 3 eighth hole. His 134 total was eight-under-par and 11 strokes better than the second-place finisher in his district, Charles Rosen II of New Orleans.

Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., nearly matched Burdick without benefit of a hole-in-one. Aaron, qualifying at the Spartanburg, S.C., Country Club, had 68-67—135 over a par 72 course. He was runnerup in the national two years ago.

The New York Metropolitan District had the largest entry—133—and the most places—13. Chicago was next with 132 and 12.

There were no notable failures among the contenders. Buffalo's Ward Wettlaufer led the section at Lewiston, N.Y., with a two-over-par 142, and Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., enjoyed a similar distinction at Indianapolis with 71-70—141.

The Professional Golfers Association of America was founded in 1916.

'Parents Night' Is Set Thursday By Nonpareil

The Blue and White Nonpareil Club will hold its annual "Parents Night" for parents of East Liverpool High School's football squad Thursday.

Final plans for the activity were announced by Laird Christen, chairman, at the club's weekly meeting Tuesday night in the YMCA.

Parents of the Potter squadmen will meet at 8 p. m. at Westgate Junior High School and proceed from there to Patterson Field for a tour of the stadium and a look at its recent improvements.

The group will later return to the Westgate cafeteria for a talk and movie by Coach Lou Venditti. A buffet lunch will be served for parents, players, managers and coaches and club members.

About 150 are expected to attend. The committee headed by Christen includes Glenn Barnett and Greg Ganas.

The club heard a report on the Potter squad from Coach Venditti who said he "was discouraged" with a scrimmage game against Beaver Local Saturday. Quarterback Ken Cunningham, who missed the scrimmage with an infected knee, has returned to action, Venditti said.

Center Gary Montgomery, who suffered an injured hip, is expected to be out of action only three or four days. The coach cited the lack of depth and experience but added fans can expect a "big club" in two years.

The next meeting will be Tuesday night in the YMCA.

Olson To Battle Undefeated Jones In Chicago Bout

This will be the first time Olson has appeared in Chicago since he lost his title here to Sugar Ray Robinson in 1955. Robinson knocked him out in the fourth round of that match.

The bout will be televised by the ABC network at 10 p.m. (EDT). Scoring will be under the 5-point must system.

The 32-year-old Olson, fighting as a light heavy since he returned from a brief retirement in 1956, won his last eight fights and has moved to sixth place among 175 pound contenders.

Jones, 24-year-old New Yorker, is undefeated in 15 professional fights and now ranks fourth among the lightheavys.

The kickoff return championship of the National Football League last season was won by Abe Woodson, playing his first full season for San Francisco. Woodson had an average of 29.4 yards for 13 returns.

Orioles Top Cleveland And Stigman's Sub, 4-1

BALTIMORE (AP)—Dick Stigman, scheduled to pitch for the Cleveland Indians in the opener of a two-game series with the Baltimore Orioles Tuesday night, was scratched from the lineup when he developed a virus infection.

The young southpaw was sent back to the hotel when trainer Wally Bock discovered that he was running a temperature.

Jim Perry took Stigman's place on the mound and absorbed his seventh defeat to go with his 15 victories as the Orioles took a 4-1 decision.

Bobby Locke, who pitched well in relief against the New York Yankees last Saturday, will open for the Indians tonight. He will be opposed by southpaw Steve Barber.

Chuck Estrada, 22-year-old right hander who is a strong candidate for rookie of the year honors, beat Perry. It was his 15th victory, tieing him with Perry as the winningest pitchers in the American League. Estrada has lost eight.

A fourth-inning home run by Joe Morgan was the only run off Estrada. It was Morgan's first American League homer. The Indians' new third baseman also got an infield single. The only other Cleveland hits were singles by Rocky Bridges and Tito Francona.

The Orioles got a run in the first inning on a leadoff double by Jackie Brandt, an infield out and a sacrifice fly by Brooks Robinson. A homer by Gene Stephens gave them another run in the second.

Baltimore made it 4-0 in the third on a single by Gene Woodling and a home run by Jim Gentile.

Perry pitched scoreless ball over the next four innings and Jack Harshman retired the Orioles without a hit in the eighth.

The homers by Stephens and Gentile boosted the total hit off Perry this season to 29. That is only three short of the club record set by Earl Wynn four years ago.

Dick Kadis, Invalid Since '56 Geneva Football Injury, Is 25

CLEVELAND (AP) — If his mother's love and hope could work a miracle, Dick Kadis would cut his own birthday cake a year from now when he will be 26.

But Tuesday, when the family gathered in their home at Seven Hills with relatives to mark Kadis' 25th birthday, the only way he could let them know his appreciation was by the way he looked at them.

Since Sept. 29, 1956, when he was injured in a football game at Waynesburg, Pa., while playing as a lineman for Geneva College, Kadis has been unable to talk, to walk, to move his arms freely or even to eat normally. Two of his three daily meals are tube-fed.

Brain surgery and more than two years in hospitals used up a total of about $7,000 which was raised for him in fund drives—the largest ones in Pittsburgh and nearby Beaver Falls, home of Geneva College.

He still needs day and night nurses on eight-hour shifts and is visited biweekly by his doctor. Next month his mother, Mrs. Pauline Kadis, plans to take him by train to Denver for physiotherapy treatments.

"I think they can help him," she said. "He is improving some. He's more alert and understands more. He gets most of what you are saying."

"He talks to us with his eyes—he has very expressive eyes," she went on.

In the first year after his injury, Kadis was in an almost complete coma and his weight fell to about 125 pounds. Now he is back to about 200.

He listens to the radio in the morning and watches television later in the day, showing especial interest in any sports programs.

Course To Be Offered In Small Boat Handling

A course of free instruction in small boat handling will be given at the Recreation Center in Wick Park, Youngstown, next Wednesday.

This is the sixth annual class sponsored by the Youngstown Power Squadron, an organization of local boatmen in co-operation with the United States Power Squadrons.

While safety afloat is the main theme of the course, the following phases of boat handling will be taught:

Seamanship, nautical rules of the road, lights and government regulations, navigational aids, the mariners' compass.

Registration will be at 7 p. m. The course is free and open to men and women in the tri-state district.

Hirsch Washes Hands Of Billy Cannon Case

"We see no benefits to be derived from pursuing the case any further."

Hirsch said Tuesday the Rams are dropping the right to appeal a federal court decision which sent Cannon, former Louisiana State University All-America halfback, to Houston of the American Football League.

USGA Event Opens Play In 33 Sections

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

A hole in one on the New Orleans Country Club course helped Bert Burdick of Baton Rouge, La., to a round of 64 and a 36-hole total of 134, good for top honors as the nation's amateur golfers bid for berths in the USGA national tournament.

The tournament will be held Sept. 12-17 at the St. Louis Country Club.

Competitions were held in 33 sections Tuesday, with three Monday, and a total of 181 places were scheduled to be filled. There were 18 exemptione bringing the St. Louis total to 200.

Burdick's 64 round matched the course record held by professional Freddie Haas. He got his ace on the 182-yard par 3 eighth hole. His 134 total was eight-under-par and 11 strokes better than the second-place finisher in his district, Charles Rosen II of New Orleans.

Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., nearly matched Burdick without benefit of a hole-in-one. Aaron, qualifying at the Spartanburg, S.C., Country Club, had 68-67—135 over a par 72 course. He was runnerup in the national two years ago.

Scores in Aaron's district ran low. Seven of the eight qualifiers broke par 144 for the two rounds.

The New York Metropolitan District had the largest entry—133—and the most places—13. Chicago was next with 132 and 12.

There were no notable failures among the contenders. Buffalo's Ward Wettlaufer led the section at Lewiston, N.Y., with a two-over-par 142, and Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., enjoyed a similar distinction at Indianapolis with 71-70—141.

The Professional Golfers Association of America was founded in 1916.

In Summer Doldrums Through

West Virginia's Business Running Ahead Of 1959

CHARLESTON (AP) — Business in West Virginia continued in the summer doldrums through July but nonetheless was running ahead of the first seven months of 1959, according to the latest issue of West Virginia Business Index.

The Chamber of Commerce publication said only nine of the 20 economic indicators for July were ahead of figures for July, 1959. However, totals for the first seven months of 1960 showed 14 categories of business in the state running ahead of 1959 figures.

The summer business record, as well as the year's good showing, goes along with the present nation-wide trend, the report said.

Big gains for July and the year so far were reported in average weekly earnings from coal mining. — $119.27 for July, an 8.5 per cent gain over July 1959, and $121.16 for the year, up 25.9 per cent over the first seven months of 1959. Manufacturing workers gained 1.3 per cent, to $93.72, for the seven months, and 1.4 per cent, to $95.01, for July.

July coal production at 7,092,000 tons was up 2.4 per cent from July 1959, and up 0.7 per cent for the seven-month period.

The labor force as a whole, in the past seven months, has earned a record total of $1,259,000,000. However, the labor force is averaging about 2,800 fewer employes per month than last year.

The chamber listed drops in this year's totals in natural gas production, 1.2 per cent; electric power, 3.4 per cent; building permits, 19.2 per cent; retail sales, 3.9 per cent; and cash farm income, 3.2 per cent.

Plus factors for the state's January to July economy this year were seen in total state tax receipts, 4.0 per cent; life insurance sales, 4.7 per cent; crude petroleum output, 3.2 per cent; lumber production, 11.9 per cent; value of manufactured products, 1.5 per cent; and railroad car loadings, 1.7 per cent.

Sudden Storm Hits New York Area; Power Cut, Traffic Tied

NEW YORK (AP) — A sudden summer storm drenched the New York metropolitan area Tuesday and turned the evening rush hours into a nightlong nightmare.

Brief but violent downpours ushered in by thunder and lightning raked the region from Connecticut to New Jersey.

Flash floods sent water pouring into subway stations, inundated expressways with water and mud and tied traffic in tortured knots clogging streets from the East River halfway across Long Island.

An estimated 100,000 homeward-bound New Yorkers were stranded. At least 20,000 subway riders were trapped in broiling heat as more than a dozen trains ground to a halt in steaming tunnels. Some 150 persons on a stalled train under the East River suffered heat exhaustion.

The storm hit in Connecticut, struck suburban Westchester and Rockland counties in New York and parts of northern New Jersey. In New York City, heavy rains fell in Manhattan, Brooklyn and Queens. But Queens and Long Island's Nassau County appeared hardest hit.

At least 18 fires were touched off in Nassau and burned several homes. Power failures left nearly 19,000 homes along the North Shore without electricity.

A power blackout affecting 23,000 customers in Queens lasted up to three hours.

Queens reported two deaths. A boy drowned when he fell into a manhole that had been opened as an emergency drain, and a man drowned in the flooded cellar of an apartment building.

Youth Who Faced Jury In Church Bombing Killed

GADSEN, Ala. (AP)—A Nazi-inspired youth who was slated to go before a grand jury in connection with an attempt to bomb a synagogue has been killed in an automobile accident.

Authorities said Jerry Hunt, 17, had been speeding back and forth in front of a junior high school and firing a shotgun from a window when the car crashed into a tree Tuesday.

The school band was drilling and Coroner Noble Yocum said Jerry, driving a taxicab owned by his father, apparently wanted to attract attention.

Jerry had been charged with two counts of assault with intent to murder in the synagogue incident March 25. He had been free on $10,000 bond.

Investigating officers said that Jerry, then 16, was a fanatical student of naziism and admirer of Hitler's storm troopers.

Science Interest Can Help Poor Reader

Some parents write of children in the middle elementary grades or higher, who show great interest in science and other factual items (rocks, plants, or living creatures) on TV and in pictured magazines and books, but who are very poor readers. Wise parents and teachers use such interests as levers to lift these children to higher levels of skill in reading. From Missouri, a mother writes of her son: "He is interested in science. He will get the older children's books in science at school when the teacher is busy with the other children and draw from and look at them for hours if the teacher does not make him stop.

Garry C. Meyers

"I BETTER explain he is in a one-room school house where the teacher has from the first grade to the eighth grade.

"But he cannot read well. He is in the second grade, but is just now reading first grade books. The teacher says he is extra smart and is working hard to help him.

"At first he came home with some pictures of the insides of a man. The teacher and I had a talk about this and she said, 'Leave him alone. If he is interested, maybe he will learn to read from just that.' So I did.

"The other day, he came home with a picture of the human brain. But now he tells me not to tell the teacher, because she gets after him for it. I must say, he had a good picture, even copied the writing around it, but he could not read it.

"I AND MY husband only have a grade school schooling, but wish to send our child to college. I would be only too glad to have him really interested in science.

"Should I try to make him leave those books alone until later or encourage him?"

My reply in part:

Do encourage that lad to pursue those science books at school and bring them home, when his teacher approves.

Help him know that he must do the other work his teacher assigns in reading, spelling, and the like; also some regular chores at home.

You and Dad should try to learn with him. View the science programs he watches on TV.

KEEP LOOKING for easy, interesting pictured materials on science in books and magazines. Read to him from them. Encourage him to read the legends under the pictures and later some of the other printed matter about them. Also, find easy books, with many pictures, he can read.

Encourage him to collect rocks, leaves, plants, and to observe insects, lovely creatures, wild birds and animals.

I would have great hopes for the educational future of that boy.

Recreational Data Will Be Collected

Information on the recreational activities will be collected by the U. S. Census Bureau in a series of 4 sample surveys to be conducted here and in 329 other areas of the country during the next 10 months, it was announced today by Director Edgar L. Bryan of the Bureau's regional field office at Pittsburgh.

Members of a number of local familes, selected by means of the Census Bureau's scientific sampling program, will be interviewed in the first survey which begins Tuesday. The remaining 3 surveys in the series will be carried out in December of this year, and in March and June of 1961.

The four surveys are being conducted by the Census Bureau for the Outdoor Recreation Resources Commission, a special government body established by the Congress to investigate future needs for public and private outdoor recreation facilities.

Topics to be covered in the survey include vacation trips away from home, other trips for outdoor recreation, other recreational activities and family ownership of recreational equipment. Information will be collected on the length of vacations, time of year vacations are taken, distances traveled, mode of travel, expenditures, and related items.

Local interviews in the recreation survey will be conducted by Mrs. Hazel Miller.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I improvise some finger paint for my children?

A. Boil some laundry starch and a few soap chips to a paste, tint with some food coloring, and add a small amount of glycerin to keep the mixture moist. Place each color in a bowl or dish and, of course, be sure the paint has cooled before giving it to the children to use.

Q. My oven doesn't seem to turn out baking powder biscuits with the golden brown top I like . Is there anything I can do about this?

A. Try adding a teaspoonful of sugar to the dry ingredients the next time you make these biscuits. When baked, they should have a lovely color.

Streamliners Work Sheer Magic For Dieter

Teen-agers, rise, shine and exercise early and you can turn into a Princess of Sheer Delight! Exercise is the magic by which you change bulges to beauty. To help you with your exercise slimming session, I asked Ruth, our Mystery Dieter, to advise which exercises she considered the best streamliners. Ruth set her alarm for 30 minutes before her usual rise and shine hour. With daily exercise she slimmed off 19⅜ inches.

By Ida Jean Kain

HERE ARE her favorite hip and thigh streamliners: Ruth writes:

"The exercises in your leaflet Slim Hips In A Hurry are fun and effective. This first one was more fun when I sang out . . . 1-2-p-u-l-l"

Position: Lying on left side, head on folded arm, legs straight down.

Action: Flex right knee briskly toward chest, shoot leg straight down, then swing vigorously toward rear. Hold the muscle contraction for a few seconds. . .then flex knee again and repeat. 1-2-p-u-l-l. Hold. Repeat 10 counts. Change sides and repeat 10 counts. That exercise is fun and slimming!

Action: Swing top leg away up in front, then swing vigorously rearward, then forward again. Hit a rhythm. Hold the muscle contraction to alternate swings rearward It goes like this: 1, swing forward, 2, swing rearward, 3, swing leg forward again, 4 swing leg rearward. . .and h-o-l-d. Repeat complete routine 6 times. Change sides and repeat.

—:—

FROM THE above position, the following exercise action firms and slims inner thighs.

Position: Lying on right side—same as above.

Position: Sit on floor, leaning slightly back to bring weight to bear on bulge, have arms out at sides, slightly back.

Action: R-o-l-l rhythmically across hip spread, pushing with one hand, bracing with the other. Roll for 25 counts, slowly and heavily, with a rhythmic, rolling motion. Something has to give—and it won't be the floor!

Girls, the only slimming exercises are the ones you take. The secre is to never skip a day. Come on, swing into action. You can have a honey of a figure.

Navy Men Given Leave After Recruit Training

Two East Liverpool district men are spending 14-day leaves with their families after completion of Navy recruit training.

They are Seaman Asp. Albert M. Vogt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Vogt, 338 Martin St., Wellsville, and Fireman Asp. Thomas G. Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Palmer of Hookstown R. D. 1.

Vogt, who enlisted here in June, will report to San Diego, Calif., for six months at the fleet sonar school. Then he will go to the New London Naval Submarine Base in New London, Conn., for eight weeks of submarine school.

Palmer will report to the Naval Air Station at Memphis for 16 weeks of boilerman's school and then will be reassigned.

The first blow-by-blow account of a boxing bout broadcast over radio was on July 2, 1921, of the heavyweight championship bout between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier.

NEW DODGER STADIUM. This scale model shows how the 56,000-seat Los Angeles Dodgers' baseball stadium will look when it is completed in Chavez Ravine. The final hurdle was cleared when the Building Department issued a permit for the construction of the $1,500,000 hall park. (UPI Telephoto)

Graduated To Know-It-All

Rise Of Lady Sports Fan

By HAL BOYLE

But many thoughtful American men would avidly support—that is, if they didn't have to stand up and be counted—a constitutional amendment banning the mingling of sexes at sporting events.

There is a growing male feeling, if women insist on being interested in sports, they should have their own baseball and football major leagues, their own ice hockey teams, perhaps even their own fishing and hunting preserves—and certainly their own golf courses.

No men would be admitted as spectators to the ladies' league games, and—naturally—no women would be allowed at the men's league contests.

What has spurred this silent masculine demand for sex segregation in sports? The rise of the lady sports fan. She is the most ominous product of the modern equal rights movement.

Here is how she is viewed by some masculine sports addicts who, for reasons of their own—they're married—choose to remain anonymous:

"It was kind of cute thirty years ago to take a girl to a football or baseball game. She asked so many dumb questions it made a man feel superior," one recalled.

"But in a single generation the lady sports fan has graduated from a know-nothing to a know-it-all. She is an authority on everything—from Mickey Mantle's emotional weaknesses as a batter to Casey Stengel's psychological defects as a manager. She brings Freud to baseball.

"And she insists on giving her views out loud. Anybody who sits within shouting distance of two dames at a ball game has numb ears by the third inning."

Another man objected to lady sports fans on the ground they are too bloodthirsty.

"Actually, they are man haters at heart," he said. "Sometime earlier in life they figure some man gave them a raw deal, and they want to see all mankind punished. They want to see men hurt.

"I got the real tipoff on women sports fans when I took one to a bull fight in Mexico. Who do you think she rooted for? The matador? Not her. She kept yelling, 'Come on, bull! Get him, bull! Get him, get him, get him!'

"When the bull finally lost, she broke out crying, and said the whole thing was unfair."

What about it, lady sports fans? Are you really dogmatic, dominating, possessive, and wildly obsessed with the determination you can beat a man at any game he chooses?

Is there really no chivalry left in the feminine bosom? Or are these men just cry babies?

Interest Rates Watched For Stock Market Clue

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Cross currents in interest rates are being watched closely in Wall Street — almost as closely as the eddying of stock prices in a market that can be interpreted in various ways depending on what part of it you are watching.

Stock traders watch the interest rates ups and downs seeking a clue to where stocks may be going.

Earlier in the year, short-term interest rates turned weak and money became definitely easier. This was partly due to the slack trend in business and partly to a change in policy by the Federal Reserve Board.

Easier money spread to long-term issues, such as corporate bonds, and their yields fell as their prices rose. Bonds indeed more attractive.

But while money turned easier and interest rates fell elsewhere, bank charges on loans to business held rigidly at 6 per cent and higher.

Then the banks gave in at last to federal prodding and brought their lowest charge down to 4½ per cent. They did so as short-term interest rates, led by yields of U.S. Treasury bills, were rising and showing every sign of continuing to rise for a good part of the time in the next month or two at least.

The bank rate cut also came when interest rates were rising in Western Europe — causing a spread that tempts some investment money to leave the United States.

Some of the cross currents in interest rates can be explained by seasonal trends. But some is due to a change in borrowing habits.

This makes it all the harder to evaluate the effect on business of the lowering of bank charges on loans. Theoretically, this should lead corporations to borrow more, at the lower rates, and expand their activities. This would give the economy the desired push off dead center.

But many observers aren't so sure that there will be very much of a move this time.

Business may not want to borrow more, even at lower rates. It depends on how fall prospects shape up.

And many firms can still find cheaper money outside the banks. They have been issuing commercial paper backed by their own credit records. Or they've turned to the long-term bond market as interest costs fell.

And many corporations have been able to raise needed money for every-day activities within their own business as depreciation write-offs rose, as earlier expansion plans were shelved for a time and as cost cutting schemes took hold.

DiSalle Sends Second Letter On Gas Strike

Mayor Bert H. Goodhaller Tuesday received a second letter from Gov. Michael V. DiSalle on the recently-settled strike of employes of the Ohio Valley Gas Co. in East Liverpool.

The mayor had asked the governor to intervene shortly before the long strike was settled. In the first letter, received last week, the governor said he would investigate before proceeding further. In the second letter, he said he saw no reason for further action because of the settlement.

"If the strike had continued, no doubt we would have had to help," the mayor commented after receiving the second letter.

Columbus Loan Firm Robbed By Lone Bandit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A man dressed in blue denims and a red billed cap entered the Economy Savings & Loan Co. at a North End shopping center and fled in a stolen car Tuesday, police said. The car was recovered a few minutes after the robbery about two blocks from the scene.

Graduated To Know-It-All

Rise Of Lady Sports Fan

By BEL BOYLE

But many thoughtful American men would avidly support—that is, if they didn't have to stand up and be counted—a constitutional amendment banning the mingling of sexes at sporting events.

There is a growing male feeling, if women insist on being interested in sports, they should have their own baseball and football major leagues, their own ice hockey teams, perhaps even their own fishing and hunting preserves—and certainly their own golf courses.

No men would be admitted as spectators to the ladies' league games, and—naturally—no women would be allowed at the men's league contests.

What has spurred this silent masculine demand for sex segregation in sports? The rise of the lady sports fan. She is the most dubious product of the modern equal rights movement.

Here is how she is viewed by some masculine sports addicts who, for reasons of their own—they're married—choose to remain anonymous:

"It was kind of nice thirty years ago to take a girl to a baseball or baseball game. She asked so many dumb questions it made a man feel superior," one recalled.

"But in a single generation the lady sports fan has graduated from a know-nothing to a know-it-all. She is an authority on everything—from Mickey Mantle's emotional weaknesses as a batter to Casey Stengel's psychological defects as a manager. She brings Freud to baseball.

"Just she insists on giving her views out loud. Anybody who sits within shouting distance of two dames at a ball game has numb ears by the third inning."

Another man objected to lady sports fans on the ground they are too bloodthirsty.

"Actually, they are mad hatters at heart," he said. "Sometime earlier in life they figure some man gave them a raw deal, and they want to see all manking punished. They want to see men hurt.

"I got the real tipoff on women sports fans when I took one to a bull fight in Mexico. Who do you think she rooted for? The matador? Not her. She kept yelling, 'Come on, bull! Get him, bull! Get him, get him, get him!'

"When the bull finally lost, she broke out crying, and said the whole thing was unfair."

What about it, lady sports fans? Are you really dogmatic, manhating, possessive, and wildly obsessed with the determination you can beat a man at any game he chooses?

Is there really no chivalry left in the feminine bosom? Or are these men just cry babies?

Interest Rates Watched For Stock Market Clue

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Cross currents in interest rates are being watched closely in Wall Street — almost as closely as the edgings of stock prices in a market that can be interpreted in various ways depending on what part of it you are watching.

Stock traders watch the interest rates ups and downs seeking a clue to where stocks may be going.

Earlier in the year, short-term interest rates turned weak and money became definitely easier. This was partly due to the slack trend in business and partly to a change in policy by the Federal Reserve Board.

Easier money spread to long-term issues, such as corporate bonds, and their yields fell as their prices rose. Stocks looked more attractive.

But while money turned easier and interest rates fell elsewhere, bank charges on loans to business held rigidly at 5 per cent and higher.

Then the banks gave in at last to federal prodding and brought their lowest charge down to 4½ per cent. They did so as short-term interest rates, led by yields of U.S. Treasury bills, were rising and showing every sign of continuing to rise for a good part of the time in the next month or two at least.

The bank rate cut also came when interest rates were rising in Western Europe — causing a spread that tempts some investment money to leave the United States.

Some of the cross currents in interest rates can be explained by seasonal trends. But some is due to a change in borrowing habits.

This makes it all the harder to evaluate the effect on business of the lowering of bank charges on loans. Theoretically, this should lead corporations to borrow more, at the lower rates, and expand their activities. This would give the economy the desired push ahead.

But many observers aren't so sure that there will be very much of a move this time.

Business may not want to borrow more, even at lower rates. It depends on how fat prospects shape up.

And many firms can still find cheaper money outside the banks. They have been issuing commercial paper backed by their own credit records. Or they've turned to the long-term bond market as interest costs fell.

And many corporations have been able to raise needed money for every-day activities within their own business, as depreciation write-offs rose, as earlier expansion plans were shelved for a time and as cost cutting schemes took hold.

DiSalle Sends Second Letter On Gas Strike

Mayor Bert R. Goodhalle Tuesday received a second letter from Gov. Michael V. DiSalle on the recently-settled strike of employes of the Ohio Valley Gas Co. in East Liverpool.

The mayor had asked the governor to intervene shortly before the long strike was settled. In the first letter, received last week, the governor said he would investigate before proceeding further. In the second letter, he said he saw no reason for further action because of the settlement.

"If the strike had continued to drag, we would have had to help," the mayor commented after receiving the second letter.

6 Naval Recruits From Area Sign Under 'Buddy Program'

Six of the 15 men enlisted in August at the Navy Recruiting Station in City Hall signed up under the "buddy program," in which they will receive "boot" training together.

Training at Great Lakes, Ill., are Charles D. Holsinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Holsinger of W. Walnut St., Rogers, and Richard J. Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Davidson of Negley R. D. 1. Enlisted under the "buddy program," they are 1960 graduates of Beaver Local High School.

Holsinger enlisted as a high school airman recruit and Davidson signed for the mechanical electrical field of the nuclear branch.

Also signed under the "buddy program" were Larry T. McCullough, son of Mrs. Ruth R. McCullough, 707 W. 9th St., Richard G. Reed Jr., son of Mrs. Aline D. Reed of Macrum St., Clarence D. Taggart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Taggart, 1927 Chester Ave., Wellsville, and Robert J. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Brown, 2000 Danbury Ave., Wellsville.

Reed and McCullough enlisted together, as did Taggart and Brown. The two local men will receive training at Great Lakes. McCullough is a 1960 graduate of East Liverpool High School. He enlised as a seaman recruit.

Taggart and Brown are 1960 graduates of Wellsville High School. Brown chose the high school airman recruit program and Taggart enlisted as an airman recruit.

Other August enlistments:

James E. Brennen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Brennen, 1731 Holliday St. A 1960 high school graduate, he enlisted as a high school seaman recruit and will train at Great Lakes.

Larry D. Messer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer E. Messer of East Rochester R. D. 1. A 1960 graduate of United Local High School, he enlisted as a high school hospitalman recruit.

Thomas R. Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Hughes of Columbiana R. D. 2, and Ronald W. Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ashby W. Stewart, 1048 Waterloo St., both training as seaman recruits at Great Lakes.

Larry D. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley D. Edgell, 310 Aten Ave., Wellsville, training in the electronics field at San Diego.

Ralph J. Harker Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Harker, 2038 Michigan Ave., and Fred S. Needs, son of Mrs. Katherine C. Dyke of Rogers R. D. 1, also training at Great Lakes as seaman recruits. Harker was graduated from East Liverpool High School and Needs is a graduate of Beaver Local High School.

Post To Conduct Membership Drive

The annual membership drive was launched by Wellsville American Legion Post 70 at its meeting Monday night. Eighteen were present.

The drive will end Nov. 11. Named as team captains were Harry Excell, Earl Leughmyer, Mel Gitschier and Don Henthorne.

Ed Self, vice commander, presided in the absence of Clyde Hurd, commander.

The post voted to hold its annual "Block of Dimes" for the March of Dimes sometime during September or October. The event usually is held during January but will be advanced to avoid bad weather.

The post also discussed selling American flags. James Fuller of Warren, past 9th District commander, was a guest.

A "Victory" dance will be held Friday, Sept. 16. No meeting will be held next Monday night because of Labor Day.

The next meeting will be Sept. 12.

Pinball Machines Used To Aid Mental Patients

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Pinball machines confiscated during raids by the Department of Liquor Control are being turned over to the state's mental hospitals.

Coin levers are stripped off to allow free play and the machines are used to help patients relax and talk.

Return Engagements

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Police were surprised at the calmness of Phoenix liquor store clerk George C. Brenneman, only minutes after he was victim of an armed robbery. Brenneman explained, "This is the ninth time I've been robbed in the past six years."
